ACTION IN SENATE HELD PROROGATION

Liberal Leader Takes Up B. N. A. Act Resolution and Moves Amendment

WANTS BOTH HOUSES
ENLARGED TOGETHER

Government Side Surprised and Closing of Session Had to Be Postponed

AMENDMENT MADE AND RETURNED TO COMMONS

Ottawa, June 12.—With the Duke of Connaught ready to prorogue the house at 3 o'clock and with military escorts waiting for the ceremony set for that hour, the senate this morning upset the apple cart. Prorogation had to be suddenly set for a later hour, probably 4.30 o'clock, and the governor-general and his aides were notified accordingly. The trouble arose out of a shrewd move on the part of the Liberal majority in the senate. The resolution praying the imperial parliament to amend the B. N. A. Act so as to create a new western senatorial division, increasing the number of senators by nine, was taken up in committee this morning. Senator Bostock, the Liberal leader, at once moved that the increase in the senate should not take effect until the expiration of the present parliament. He said that the two houses should be enlarged simultaneously.

If the imperial government passes the amendments to the B. N. A. Act as agreed to by the commons, the government will be able to at once increase the senate by nine members, which would about wipe out the Liberal majority. What Senator Bostock wants is that the increase shall not take effect until the expiration of the present parliament; that is until after the next general election.

Senator Loughheed said that if the majority in the senate insisted upon this amendment the government would not proceed with the redistribution bill this session. He said that Sir Wilfrid had agreed to the terms of the senate increase in his address. He added that there was an agreement with two leaders that the bill would go through the senate unanimously.

"Sir Wilfrid cannot speak for us," interrupted one Liberal senator.

Senator Cloran took violent objection to the statement that Sir Wilfrid had made any agreement. He said it was an affront to the Liberal leader.

Finally the committee arose and reported progress, and in the meantime hurried conferences are being held between the leaders of the two houses in order to allow prorogation to proceed.

When the senate resumed in the afternoon Senator Bostock's amendment was adopted in committee by the whole on a vote of 18 to 8. Speaker Landry then resumed the chair and the motion to accept the report of the committee was adopted on a vote of 13 to 9. On motion of Senator Bostock the address as amended was sent back to the commons. Previous to this being done, Senator Loughheed, the government leader, declined to assume any further responsibility for it, the opposition having incorporated in the measure a principle which the government could not accept. Senator Loughheed then answered that the redistribution bill would be submitted to the house for consideration. The bill was then put through committee and its third reading.

When the house resumed at 3 o'clock the senate amendment to the address to the imperial parliament regarding senate representation was taken up. Mr. Borden moved that the amendment be not accepted for several reasons: (1) Because appointments to the senate have nothing to do with the date of the election of members to the commons; (2) because the address relates solely to the last census; (3) because it is inappropriate and incongruous; and (4) because no sufficient reason has been given by the senate.

This means that the address is killed and the matter will have to be dealt with at the next session. At 3.30 the house rose for an hour.

The deadlock between the House of Commons and the senate over the bill to amend the post office act continues. Last night at a late hour the commons, on the motion of Hon. L. P. Pelletier, refused to accept the senate amendments providing that the rates to be charged newspapers for transmission through the mails must be ratified by parliament. This morning the senate further amended the bill by providing for the continuance of the present rates until such time as parliament can ratify new rates, and sent the bill back to the commons, where it was to be discussed again this afternoon.

PRISONERS REVOLT.

Cerbere, France, June 12.—A jail governor was assassinated and a large number of convicts killed or wounded as a result of a revolt yesterday in the Spanish prison of Figueras, just over the frontier from Catalonia.

MILLION BALLOON IS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Carrier Pigeon Takes Call for Help to Portland Reporting
Berry Hurt

Portland, Ore., June 12.—A carrier pigeon arrived here this afternoon with the message from the balloon Million-Population club:

"Balloon struck by lightning. Berry hurt; come quick."

"(Signed) MORRISON."

The message did not say where the balloon, which was one of the four to ascend from here yesterday in a race under the auspices of the Aero Club of America, had descended to earth. The Berry referred to is Capt. John Berry, of St. Louis, who was piloting the balloon. George Y. Morrison, his passenger, signed the message.

Officials here are absolutely at sea as to where to look for the wrecked balloon and its injured pilot. It is presumed the balloon came down somewhere in the craggy Cascade mountains, probably many miles from habitation.

Anxiety for the two other balloons still unheard from increased with the report of the Million-Population club disaster. The storm last night was general, and there is doubt if any of the balloons escaped it. Every point for 200 miles southeast of here is being requested to send searching parties into the dense forest on the mountains.

A little white carrier pigeon, one of three which the balloon carried, arrived at its home here to-day wet and bedraggled and with the hastily scrawled note fastened to its leg.

The Million-Population club was the second balloon reported wrecked in the terrific electrical storm which raged in the mountains last night, the other being the Uncle Sam, whose pilot and passenger escaped injury.

ATTACK ON MAZATLAN RAGED ALL YESTERDAY

Besieged City Short of Provisions and Must Contain Hostile Population.

On Board U. S. S. California, Mazatlan, June 11.—By wireless to San Diego, Cal., June 12.—The constitutional army under General Obregon began assault on the federal fortifications at Mazatlan, commanded by General Rodriguez. The battle raged all day, and although the besieged garrison held its positions, it lost heavily in killed and wounded.

The first heavy rains of the wet season began here to-day, and will add to the hardships of the combatants. The federals, who are short of supplies and must keep under control a starving and hostile populace within their lines, and will suffer most from this new burden. The besiegers have plenty of provisions, and by reason of their superior numbers, can keep the garrison harassed night and day, between the assaults, while a majority of their number rest.

FOOD IS NEEDED NOW BY PEOPLE OF VERA CRUZ

Memphis, Tenn., June 12.—Vera Cruz is in urgent need of foodstuffs, according to an official report of the United States consul in that city, quoted in a telegram received by the merchants exchange of Memphis from Secretary Redfield of the department of commerce. Mr. Redfield asked that ship-owners be informed that foodstuffs intended for consumption in Vera Cruz would be admitted duty free.

OBTAIN MONEY EASILY WITH BOND GUARANTEE

Sir Donald Mann Says All Work on Canadian Northern Will Move Forward

Toronto, June 12.—That the Canadian Northern Railway company expects to easily raise in Great Britain the millions needed for completion of its trans-continental system from coast to coast, now that both houses of the Canadian parliament have acted upon the enterprise by passing of C. N. R. bond guarantee bill, was the confident assertion of Sir Donald Mann, first vice-president of the company to-day in an interview here.

"Of course," qualified Sir Donald, "financial conditions change from day to day, but judging from present indications the money will be obtained." In the meantime the Canadian Northern is planning to go ahead with all its extensions and improvements, some of which were held back during the uncertainty of the passage of the much discussed measure through parliament.

"In just about a year from now," said Sir Donald, "we expect to have all the various sections connected, and our passenger trains running from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The line along the north shore of Lake Superior, despite great engineering difficulties, is being pushed through rapidly. In the west it is proposed this year to take up three hundred miles of light rails in the Edmonton-Grand Bend section and relay heavy rails. The remainder of the section will be relayed with heavy rails next year. As to the British Columbia section, ballasting is going on and rails being unloaded."

CARELESS NAVIGATION WILL NOT BE TOLERATED

United States Official Favors More Severe Punishment for Masters Concerned in Accidents.

Washington, June 12.—Carelessness on the part of the vessel, captains in the handling of their craft will not be tolerated hereafter, it was announced to-day by the department of commerce. With the recent disasters of the Empress of Ireland in the St. Lawrence river and the old Dominion liner Monro off the Virginia coast still fresh in hand, Secretary Redfield so indicated to-day in a letter to the head of the steamboat inspection service, calling attention to the recent grounding of the passenger steamer Iroquois in the Hudson river, for which the captain of the Iroquois is said to have received a thirty-days' suspension of his licence. The secretary is convinced that the punishment so often meted out to vessel captains who are responsible for accidents are insufficient for the gravity of the offence.

FOREST FIRES DO $10,000 DAMAGE AT BLISSFIELD

Fredericton, N. B., June 12.—Forest fires broke out in several sections of New Brunswick yesterday and fanned by a strong northwest wind, made rapid headway with heavy damage. The most serious of these being the first reported to the department of lands and mines here is one which threatened to wipe out the settlement of Blissfield. Damage to the extent of $10,000 or more was done there.

STRIKE NUMBERS INCREASED.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 12.—Refusal of the Westinghouse company yesterday to treat with their ten thousand striking employees was answered to-day when the Allegheny Congenial industrial union called out the 1,500 men in the plant of the Union Switch & Signal company at Swissvale.

RIBOT'S CABINET IN OFFICE BUT ONE DAY

Unable to Live Through First Assault of Radicals and Socialists

GREATEST UNREST IS MANIFESTED IN FRANCE

Defeat of Ministry Expected to Be Followed by Financial Crisis

BULLETIN.

Paris, June 12.—The new French cabinet, of which Senator Ribot is premier, was defeated to-day in the first division taken in the new chamber of deputies by a vote of 306 to 262.

The premier immediately resigned. He had held office but one day.

Paris, June 12.—Intense excitement was manifested to-day in the chamber of deputies when Alexandre Felix Ribot, the new premier, mounted the tribune to read the cabinet's declaration of policy. In many quarters doubt was expressed whether the cabinet would be able to live through the day, owing to its attitude concerning the rigid maintenance of the three-years military service law.

Previously the new French cabinet decided to ask the French parliament to authorize the issue of a loan of $150,000,000 at three and one-half per cent., payable in twenty-five years, and not exempt from income tax.

The proceeds of the loan are to be spent for the extraordinary requirements of the army and navy, and also to cover French expenditure in connection with Morocco.

The present political crisis which, in the opinion of ex-premier Clemenceau, is the gravest since the revolution, will depend in a measure on the vote to be taken in the chamber of deputies on the ministerial declaration. The debate accordingly is awaited with the greatest anxiety by all sections of the country.

The new ministry, theoretically, is defeated in advance by one vote, as the radicals and socialists combined command 301 votes. But it is remarked that many radicals were absent from the meeting of the party which declared war against Premier Ribot, and it is thought a certain number may abstain from voting, and thus enable the cabinet to survive at least the first ballot.

Nevertheless greatest uneasiness and uncertainty is felt, especially in business circles over the possible outcome. The defeat of M. Ribot would have far reaching consequences in financial centres. A large loan is needed, indeed indispensable, and in the event that the new minister is beaten, would have to be postponed, aggravating the financial crisis.

It is predicted by eminent authorities that any loan issued under the auspices of a cabinet composed of radicals and socialists would be doomed to certain failure, and its failure would sound the death knell of the financial power of France.

The cabinet at a meeting last night discussed the terms of the declaration of policy. It will clearly affirm the determination to govern only with a republican majority, and if this is not accorded the ministry will immediately resign.

GREECE WARNS TURKEY FIGHTING AT AIVALIK

Premier Venizelos' Declaration, Practically An Ultimatum Is Followed by Note From Government Demanding Cessation of Persecution and Repair of Damage

Athens, Greece, June 12.—A warning to Turkey, which fell little short of a formal declaration of hostilities, was uttered to-day by Premier Venizelos of Greece, in the chamber of deputies. He was speaking on the treatment of Greek subjects in Turkey. The premier's attitude showed that the tension between Greece and Turkey was near the breaking point and that the danger was imminent.

M. Venizelos found it difficult to restrain his language when he spoke of the way in which the Turks had treated his fellow countrymen.

"I do not wish to allow to escape me words which cannot be recalled, but I should fail in my duty if I did not inform the chamber of deputies that the situation has become grave—even very grave," he said. "If a stop is not put to these conditions, the Hellenic government will be forced not to content itself with joining in the lamentations of unhappy refugees."

The Greek government sent a vigorous note to Turkey demanding the cessation of the persecution of Greeks in Turkey and the repair of damage caused to them and their interests.

Massacre Feared in Town of 25,000

London, June 12.—An official dispatch from Mitylene, an island off the coast of Asia Minor, says that Turkish regulars, with machine guns and a force of Bashi Bazuks to-day commenced an attack on the town of Aivalik, on the coast of the mainland. As the town is inhabited by 25,000 Greeks, a massacre is feared.

MONTMAGNY IN PORT

Quebec, June 12.—The Canadian government steamer Montmagny, reported lost, arrived at North Sydney early to-day reporting all well, according to a message from her captain, F. X. Paulit, received by the local agency of the marine department.

GAPE FISHermen RIDE SAFELY THROUGH STORM

Two Hundred Boats With One Thousand Men Were in Peril; Thirty-seven Known Dead.

St. John, N. B., June 12.—The fishermen of the Gaspé fleet are safe without the loss of a single life. News to this effect has been received from the northern shore.

Cut off from the rest of the world since the terrible storm of a week ago, more than 200 boats with about 1,000 men from the northern shore of the bay were caught in the storm. The property loss is severe, 70 boats were wrecked, 13 went adrift and 30 others were damaged on the southern shore of the Bay of Chaleur. Thirteen lives are known to be lost and six are believed lost. The body of Fred Theriault was recovered yesterday and buried at Caraquet, making a total of ten bodies found. Eight of the men who were lost belonged to Caraquet and the other five to St. Simon.

POMAGNA FORMED IN ITALIAN PROVINCES

Rome, June 12.—Movements of a revolutionary character were reported to-day through the provinces of Bologna, Ferrara, Ravenna and Forlì, forming what is known as the Pomagna. Although a cessation of the general strike which began on Monday has been ordered by the labor organizations, the workmen of extreme views in these districts have refused to return to work.

The only communication from Ravenna reports the death of the chief of police as a result of wounds received in the course of a demonstration on Wednesday.

ELECTION DATE IN AUSTRALIA IS SET FOR SEPTEMBER 5

London, June 12.—Hon. J. Hume Cook, the Australian federal prime minister, stated to-day that the general elections would be held September 5. In the course of an exciting debate ex-premier Fisher, and leader of the opposition, demanded the production of the memorandum submitted to Sir Munro-Ferguson, governor-general, on the impending dissolution, and all the correspondence that had passed between the premier and governor-general. This Premier Cook declined to do, on the ground the relations between the government and the governor-general were confidential.

THREE FIRES STARTED IN ANCIENT CHURCH BY MILITANT WOMEN

London, June 12.—A determined attempt was made to-day by militant suffragettes to burn the ancient church of St. Margaret's, at Chippingstead, 14 miles southeast of London. Three distinct fires fed by fire lighters composed of squares of felt saturated with oil were set by the arson squad.

The rector, Rev. William H. Stone, and villages extinguished the flames before much damage had been done. The church dates from the twelfth century.

CHRISTIAN WOULD KEEP HIS OWN NOMINEES IN

Copenhagen, June 12.—King Christian X. of Denmark placed to-day an unexpected obstacle in the way of the plan of the Danish cabinet to dissolve the upper house of parliament, and thus break the deadlock in the electoral reforms. The king objected to the inclusion in the dissolution of the 12 members of the upper house nominated by himself, and said he wished only the other 54 members to be affected. Radical politicians have advised the cabinet to resign unless the king gives way.

CARRANZA'S MEN TO APPEAR INFORMALLY

Mediation Diplomats Hold
Out for Armistice Between Mexican Parties

FIRST IMPORTANT STEP
IS TAKEN AT NIAGARA

Huerta's Plan for Succession Definitely Abandoned by His Representatives

PRESIDENT WILSON NOW
CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 12.—The mediators will not officially admit to the conference here the envoy Carranza has announced he will send to Niagara Falls. The A.B.C. diplomats said they could not recede from their original condition, demanding an armistice.

The dispatch from Saltillo yesterday stating that the Carranza note made no mention of the conditions under which he was sending delegates was shown to the mediators. They declined to make formal comment, but let it be known that their attitude had undergone no change. They reiterated that admission of the constitutionalists is and will continue to be contingent upon declaration of an armistice.

The mediators will have no objection if a conference could be held between the Huerta delegates, the Carranza delegates and the Americans. In fact, such a suggestion has been under consideration for some time, so that if an agreement could be reached between these three parties at interest, the mediators would finally admit all to the signing of a protocol.

It is considered possible that the Carranza delegates might be informally received here and the argument heard as to why an armistice cannot be declared.

The mediators are determined to remove every technical obstacle. The work of the conference is now centered on the second point in the plan for the pacification of Mexico which deals with the personnel of the new government. Names have not yet been submitted by the United States because there has been no direct communication with the constitutionalists and it is that party which the American government is aiming to satisfy so as to persuade them to lay down their arms.

Washington, June 12.—General Carranza's reply to the Mexican mediators announcing his intention of sending three delegates to the Niagara conference was received here early to-day and forwarded to Niagara Falls.

No announcement of the contents of Carranza's reply was made here, but it was understood the note is silent on the subject of an armistice and does not give the names of the men who will be sent to represent the constitutionalists.

It is known, however, that Rafael Zubaran, minister of the interior in Carranza's cabinet, and chief of the agency here, will not be among the delegates, as Carranza considers Zubaran is needed to look after affairs here.

Two of the delegates are most certain to be Luis Cabrera, a prominent figure in the constitutionalist movement, and Jose Vasconcelos, a young lawyer. The name of the third man is not known here.

President Wilson authorized to-day the announcement that he considers the progress of mediation at Niagara Falls as very encouraging. No formal statement was made of the basis of the president's optimism, but it was said unofficially that he expects mediation to have a successful outcome within the next few days.

CARRANZA GETS LARGE SUPPLY OF AMMUNITION

Sixteen Hundred Cases and Two Aeroplanes Sent From Tampico
Northward To-day.

Tampico, June 12.—The steamship Antilla from New York discharged to-day her cargo of ammunition for the constitutionalists. Sixteen hundred cases of ammunition and two aeroplanes were immediately dispatched north on a special train.

Until after arrival at the wharf here the Antilla knew nothing of the projected blockade of the port or the presence of the federal gunboats Zaragoza and Bravo outside the harbor. The Antilla will sail to-morrow for Tancitaro to recover the body of Weston Burwell, the American reported murdered by federalists April 22.

TOLLS BILL THROUGH VOTE WAS 216 TO 71

Washington, June 12.—Without the formality of a conference, the house to-day by a vote of 216 to 71 accepted the senate's amendment to the repeal of the Panama tolls exemption, and sent the bill to President Wilson.

PIMA INDIANS SAVED INHABITANTS OF TOWN

Several Days' Battle Against Men of Yaqui Tribe Fought
at Cumuriha

Douglas, Arizona, June 12.—But for the interference of the band of Pima Indians from the valley surrounding Cumuriha, Sonora, inhabitants of that town probably would have fallen victims of Yaqui Indian raiders during the recent fighting there, according to reports which reached Douglas to-day.

With the aid of the Pimas, traditional enemies of the Yaquis, but who ordinarily are peaceful farmers, the townspeople managed to drive off their assaults after a battle lasting several days.

At one time the Yaquis held almost half the town, and fighting raged from roofs, windows and at short range in the streets. Heavy losses inflicted upon the Yaquis caused them to raise a portion of the town before retreating as well as stealing all the food they could find.

After burning farmhouses near the town and carrying off several Mexican women, the Yaquis were said to have retreated toward their stronghold in the Bacatete mountains.

The state government was appealed to during the fighting, and 25 soldiers were sent to Cumuriha. Later a stronger force was sent, but they did not arrive until after the Indians had gone.

Several of the defenders of the town were killed and wounded, but their losses were not so heavy as those of the Yaquis.

UNITED STATES GAINS POINT IN MEDIATION

Carranza Will Send Delegates to Take Part in Niagara Falls Conference

Niagara Falls, June 12.—The Mexican plenipotentiaries and the American delegates announce that a substantial agreement had been reached in regard to the transfer of authority at Mexico City.

This important point in the plans for the pacification of Mexico was gained by the United States through the consistently displayed by the Mexican delegation.

In the full conference of mediators and delegates it was agreed that the transfer of authority to the new provisional government should be accomplished in some other way than by General Huerta's appointment of a minister of foreign affairs, who would succeed to the provisional presidency.

This method, provided for in the Mexican constitution, will be abandoned because the United States insisted that to assent to it would be tantamount to a recognition of General Huerta's right to exercise constitutional functions.

On this point the mediation conference has been wrestling for three weeks. The mediators argued vehemently against the American viewpoint, but the American delegates were unyielding.

NINETY-SIX MEMBERS WANTED FOR SENATE

Creation of Fourth Group of Provinces is Favored by Sir Wilfrid Laurier

Ottawa, June 12.—Premier Borden moved an address to the imperial parliament yesterday asking for an amendment to the clauses of the B. N.
A. act relating to the appointment of senators. The effect of the address is to ask for an increase in the number of senators to 96. This will provide for a group of twenty-four for the four western provinces, and make four groups in all—Quebec, Ontario, the Maritime Provinces and the west. The address asks the imperial parliament to provide that in the event of Newfoundland entering confederation the representation in the senate be increased to 102.

In this connection Mr. Borden stated that any movement looking to the inclusion of Newfoundland would have to come from the island colony. Another feature of the address is the request that a provision be put in the B. N. A.
act that the representation of a province in the House of Commons shall never be less than its representation in the upper house.

This would mean that Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick together would never be represented by less than twenty-four members.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that he was quite in favor of the creation of a fourth group of provinces based upon the principle of the federal act. The most important consideration in the resolution was that which provided that the senate representation of no one province should exceed its representation in the Commons. This, he thought, was a departure from the principle laid down at confederation, and which had been strictly followed ever since.

Major Sharpe objected strenuously to any further representation in the senate until it had been made amendable to public opinion. "That it is still absolutely irresponsible," he declared,
"is evident from his recent action in killing the Farmers' Bank bill."

Hon. Mr. Lemieux asked if it was the intention of the government in future appointments to the senate to continue the principle of the fathers of confederation with regard to the representation of minorities.

Investing Insurance Money

You have taken out insurance for the protection of your family. In that you have done well.

But have you done
enough?

You are carrying, let us say, a $25,000 life policy. If YOU had $25,000 to invest
you could make the income from it support you. But are you safe in assuming that your dependent ones
will be as capable?

Taking out the policy was a wise step. But unless you appoint a capable and responsible trustee to invest the money when paid over by the insurance company
your wisdom may be turned to foolishness.

Our trust officers will gladly discuss this further with you.

MURDER CHARGE FAILS FUNDS GIVEN ACCUSED

Moose Jaw, June 12.—In the supreme court here to-day the charge preferred against Katie McCann of having murdered her infant child in the Northern hotel at Marquis on February 12, broke down when C. E. Armstrong, counsel for the crown, after having examined
all the witnesses for the prosecution, admitted to the court that he had failed to establish the charge.

A verdict of not guilty was returned,
and on the suggestion of J. H. Wellington, the foreman of the jury, a subscription was made for the accused which realized $40.

WAS SIXTY YEARS IN GRAND TRUNK SERVICE

Winnipeg, June 12.—The motive power department of the Grand Trunk railway has heard with regret of the death of one of its oldest employees.
This was John McMillan, who had a record of sixty years' continuous service for the company. He started work for Wm. Cowan, who was contractor for the Grand Trunk on Chaudiere bridge, in 1850. He was then sent to Weston, from there to Georgetown, Guelph and Burlington. He then entered the locomotive shop at Berlin in 1856, going from there to Stratford, then to London, and from London to Point Edward, where he remained until 1899, when the shops were moved to Sarnia. He worked at Sarnia until April 30, 1908, when he was retired on pension fund.

PANAMA TOLLS BILL PASSES THE SENATE

Washington, June 12.—Repeal of the Panama canal tolls exemption for American coastwise shipping passed the senate last night by a vote of 50 to 35. The measure now goes back to the House, which is expected to accept the Simmons-Norris amendment specifically, reserving all rights the United States may have under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.
The passage of the bill, after a bitter struggle that has lasted for several months, is regarded as another victory for President Wilson.

LOCAL OPTION MAIN

PLANK FOR ONTARIO

Under Whitney Government
 316 Municipalities Have Become Dry

Toronto, June 12.—Hon. W. H. Hoar, former minister of lands, forests and mines for Ontario, opened the Conservative fight in the present election campaign in the opera house at North Bay last night. He indicated that the Conservatives regarded the local option stand of the Liberals as the main fighting ground by dealing largely with that question. He declared that the local option law of the last administration was the surest road to prohibition as proved by the 316 municipalities made dry during the Whitney regime.

In the local campaign Charles J. Doughty has been declined as a candidate from the Conservative party. He was nominated by the Conservatives in the Riverdale division of this city, but after his nomination he announced that he would support Mr. Rowell in his temperance policy. Following this announcement he has been advised that he will not be supported in his candidacy by the regular party. Mr. Doughty is now considering whether or not he will run as an independent Conservative.

The Liberals in convention at Brockville decided not to place a candidate in the field against A. B. Donovan, the former Conservative member, so that Mr. Donovan will be opposed only by the temperance candidate.

South Renfrew Liberals met and expressed their choice of a candidate, but as the man they selected was not present his formal nomination has been deferred.

The following are additional nominations:

Conservatives—Bruth, North, W. D. Cargill; Hastings, West, J. W. Johnson; Middlesex, North, Neil Galbraith; Nipissing, East, Henry Moral; Renfrew, North, E. A. Dunlop.

Liberals—Bruce, West, C. W. Bowman, former chief Liberal whip; Parry Sound, Dr. F. G. Richardson; Sudbury, M. Allard; Welland, G. W. Sutherland.

ADMITTS TAKING JEWELS WORTH LARGE AMOUNT

As Stockholder Man Who Fleed From San Francisco May Escape Prosecution.

San Francisco, June 12.—The authorities were puzzled to-day over the course to pursue in the case of Joseph Fischer, an employee of the Samuels Jewelry company, of San Francisco, arrested last night near Boulder Creek while fleeing with $30,000 worth of the company's jewelry.

The prisoner is said by a member of the firm to be a stockholder, and as such it may be impossible, under the law, to convict him of either burglary or grand larceny.

Sheriff Howard Trafton, who intercepted an automobile bearing Fischer to Watsonville, recovered the jewels. Fischer was taken to Santa Cruz. The prisoners admitted that he had taken the jewelry out of the company's safe. He said he had expected to sell some of it and get out of the country.

BALL'S ALIBI PROVED UPON INVESTIGATION

Man Held in Connection With Train Murder is to Be Released on Monday.

Seattle, June 12.—George Ball, held in the Skagit county jail since April 1, on a charge of murder in the first degree for alleged complicity in the robbery of a Great Northern train at Samish station February 20, when three passengers were killed, will be released, and the charge against him dropped next Monday as the result of an investigation instituted by Prosecuting Attorney C. D. Besie, of Skagit county, and later taken up by Attorney-General W. V. Tanner, in which an alibi was established for Ball.

HEARSAY EVIDENCE TO BE TAKEN AT EDMONTON

Edmonton, June 12.—The police investigation to be conducted by Justice Scott begins to-day. O. M. Biggar, K.C., who is conducting the prosecution, has received a great mass of evidence, and it is said that a number of well-known people may be implicated. Mr. Justice Scott has made a ruling that hearsay evidence will be admissible, provided that undue liberties are not taken in this regard.

PORTLAND CARNIVAL WILL CLOSE TO-NIGHT

Portland, Ore., June 12.—By proclamation of Governor West, the closing day of Portland's eighth annual rose festival was declared a holiday, and the crowds were augmented by additional delegations of visitors from various parts of the state. The principal feature on the forenoon programme was a parade in which civic, military, industrial, commercial and fraternal forces had been invited to participate. The carnival will end to-night with revelry and dancing on the streets, and an elaborate electrical parade.

BANDITS GET $16,500.

Sydney, N. S. W., June 11.—Bandits in an automobile held up the pay clerks at the government railway workshops to-day and stole $16,500 but overlooked a slightly larger sum.

METHODISTS DISCUSS

TEMPERANCE QUESTION

Church Union and Banishment of Bar Before Manitoba Conference

Winnipeg, June 12.—The first day of the general session of the Manitoba Methodist conference in progress here in Broadway church was marked by striking speeches on temperance and moral reform. Rev. G. K. Adams, pastor of Trinity church, Port Arthur, was elected president of the conference by a large majority on the second ballot and in his presidential address referred to the question of temperance and church union. He declared that there was no matter demanding more attention than temperance at the present time. The question of banish the bar was before him in Manitoba and Ontario, and after announcing his intention to vote for Mr. Powell and his cause, the new president added: "I am sure that I shall be sustained by everyone who votes as he prays by every true Methodist minister and every layman who puts moral questions before party."

On the subject of church union, Mr. Adams said that he regretted the attitude of the Presbyterian assembly in not passing ultimately upon the question. He was also sorry that Rev. Dr. Grant had seen fit, after having taken a stand for union, to resign his position because he feared that the minority were being coerced. Mr. Adams declared that he wondered whether the Methodist church had not been a little too eager. At any rate it remained for them now to maintain the integrity and dignity of their church to which they owed so much.

Rev. Hugh Dobson, field secretary of the moral social department of the Methodist church, addressed a great meeting in connection with the conference and advocated the separation of the new and hostile elements in hotels. He declared that the policy of the Methodist had always been prohibition, but the strategic point in the temperance question at present was banish the bar. Speaking on gambling, he declared that the atmosphere of the Dominion was surcharged with the gambling spirit, and he denounced the Calgary oil boom.

HOUSE BURNED DOWN OWNER IN VICTORIA

Fears of Matthew Scurr That Damage Would Be Done During His Absence Realized.

Nanaimo, June 12.—The home of Matthew Scurr, of this city, was destroyed by fire early this morning. The home and contents were a total loss, estimated at $2,000. Mr. Scurr is in the employ of the Western Fuel Company, and there is no doubt that the fire was of incendiary origin, for Mr. and Mrs. Scurr have been in Victoria since Monday attending the grand lodge, I. O. O. F., and there has been no one in the house since that date. Before leaving for Victoria, Mr. Scurr requested the police to watch his home for he feared some attempt would be made during his absence to damage his property.

STORSTAD'S OWNERS TO BRING ACTION SOON

Montreal, June 12.—The Norwegian collier Storstad, which rammed and sank the Empress of Ireland, is still under seizure by the admiralty court, and she remains tied up at the Dominion Coal company's wharf. "We shall be ready to make a move in a day or two," said attorneys for the Storstad's owners to-day.

CHICAGO BANK CLOSED.

Chicago, June 12.—The La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, of which former U. S. Senator Lorimer is president, was taken in charge to-day by the state bank examiners. No business was done in the bank to-day and the examiner reported that conditions were such as to warrant the closing of the bank.

MAKING FINAL STAND AGAINST FLOOD WATER

Southern California Has Day of Anxiety on Strength of Encina Flume

Calexico, Cal., June 12.—After several days of anxiety and ceaseless work to restrain the flood waters of the Colorado river, a final stand was made to-day to prevent the Encina flume, one of the most endangered points in the irrigation system, from being washed away. The high water is due to melting snow in the mountains.

If the flume goes out it will mean that the ranches west of New River will be without water, which possibly would result in the loss of considerable live stock.

Telegrams from Needles, Cal., stated there was little change to-day in the flood conditions there, except that 15 miles north of that town the channel of the Colorado had widened until the river was seven miles from bank to bank. A vast acreage in that district, creased with old channels of the river, was said to be under water, which at Topoc was reported to have reached a depth of 60 feet, 13 feet deeper than it was at the height of the flood last year.

We are surrounded by opportunities for being happy. What we have to do is to cultivate a gift for making the most of them.—Mr. Geoffrey Rhoades.

BRITANNIA RULES

In their reports of the arrival after her maiden voyage of the Cunard line's splendid new steamship Aquitania the New York newspapers shower compliments upon the captain of the great vessel for the deft and seamanlike manner in which he brought her up the river, crowded with smaller craft, and laid her alongside the dock. The people of other nations may have acquired the art of shipbuilding and undoubtedly do turn out works that are creditable to their skill and enterprise, but none of them can give the Briton lessons in the art of handling ships. It must be a gift handed down from a long line of ancestors who made their homes upon the deep. And the Aquitania, largest and most complete of British ships, seems to be worthy of the master hand that guides her in her journeyings to and fro on the turbulent Atlantic. She made the fastest maiden voyage of any ship yet built, and she did it on a consumption of fuel less by one hundred and fifty tons per day than any of her competitors at present in commission. She is a bigger boat than her sisters the Mauretania and the Lusitania. She carries many more passengers and her earning powers must be correspondingly greater than theirs. Yet she promises to develop as great if not greater speed than those fleet monarchs of the sea, consequently she is evidently going to be a more profitable investment than any of the boats of her own or rival lines. These things all indicate a great triumph for her designers and builders and demonstrate that in the art of shipbuilding the Briton is yet supreme. May we be permitted to call these facts to the attention of Mr. J. J. Hill, an able and far-seeing man, and a born Canadian at that, who a few weeks ago issued a statement intended to convey the impression that industrially and commercially Great Britain was on the eve of losing the position she long has held in the competitive business markets of the world and that the sceptre was about to pass into the hands of Germany. Not yet for a little while, Mr. Hill, Britain still is "mistress of the seas," and all along the line she is the most prosperous nation on the face of the earth to-day.

TINKERING WITH THE STANDARD.

The Prime Minister last night moved that an address be presented to the Imperial parliament requesting an amendment to the British North America act providing for a representation in the Canadian senate of ninety-six members, apportioned into four groups of twenty-four each. For the purpose of distribution the Dominion will be divided as follows: (1) Ontario; (2) Quebec; (3) the Maritime Provinces; (4) the four western provinces. Provision also will be made for the appointment of six additional senators to represent Newfoundland should that colony desire to enter the Canadian confederation. The present representation of the senate numbers eighty-seven, apportioned as follows: Ontario, 24; Quebec, 24; New Brunswick, 10; Nova Scotia, 4; Saskatchewan, 4; Alberta, 4; British Columbia, 2. Thus all the groups are complete except that comprising the western provinces, which will receive nine additional senators, making up their 24. In seeking the power to make this readjustment Mr. Borden is adopting the suggestion made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the debate on senatorial representation earlier in the session, a suggestion, by the way, which was misconstrued by the local organ of the government as an expression of the Liberal leader's opposition to increased membership for British Columbia in the upper house.

But while the readjustment will be generally satisfactory, there is a provision in Mr. Borden's resolution which will meet with opposition from the western provinces. This asks the Imperial parliament in amending the constitution to provide that the representation of any province in the senate shall not exceed in number its membership in the House of Commons. The effect of this amendment will be to fix the representation of the Maritime Provinces in the House of Commons upon another basis than that of the Quebec standard, established by the Fathers of Confederation. For instance, in the next redistribution the unit of representation determined by the ratio of Quebec's fixed membership of 65 to its population, if properly applied, may involve the reduction of New Brunswick's membership in the Commons by two, as in the present redistribution. But under the amendment proposed by Mr. Borden it would be impossible to make that reduction. New Brunswick under the present redistribution will have eleven members in the House of Commons. Its representation in the senate is ten. Consequently it would be impossible to cut off two members from its delegation to the Commons, because in that case its membership in the senate would exceed in number its membership in the popular house.

This departure from the standard of representation fixed by the framers of the constitution is a dangerous expedient, and is carrying the game of practical politics to an extreme point. It involves discrimination in the establishment of two distinct standards under which it is quite possible, in fact probable, that the Maritime Provinces will be over-represented while the west will be under-represented. The Quebec unit was fixed in the interests of the Dominion as a whole. If we begin to tinker with it and twist it to meet local demands, we throw it into the melting pot, from which nothing but confusion and sectional friction will arise.

Premier Sir Richard McBride's mind being relieved by the passage through both houses of the Canadian Northern relief bill, we hope he will see to it that the minds of the people of Victoria also shall be set at rest by the speedy execution of his various "undertakings," such as the construction of the terminal buildings on the former Songhees reserve, the resumption of work on the lines on this island, and the consummation of that first-class passenger, mail and express connection between the mainland and Victoria, which, we were assured, would culminate in the passage of complete overland trains between this city and all eastern points. All these "undertakings" are about due, but we shall not cavil about the date of their culmination if the Premier and his friends Sir William and Sir Donald give substantial evidence of good faith.

Premier Borden's scheme of permanent representation in the House of Commons would involve perpetual inequality for the west as compared with the east. It would mean that a vote in the east would for all time possess a greater value than a vote in the west. Does he really think the west will tamely submit to such an obvious discrimination and odious injustice? Is that the penalty the west will be asked to carry because it objects to a fiscal policy the object of which is to increase the great and increasing wealth of the protected interests representing the minority of the people, and gathered at the expense of the majority?

Five large firms went into liquidation in Belfast in one week recently. Others are tottering. This financial chaos is due to the blood and thunder tactics of Sir Edward Carson and Bonar Law. When it comes to a choice between a parliament at Dublin and bankruptcy, we are fairly certain the solid business sense of Ulster will favor the former.

We warned that person Reich that just as soon as our Joe got going in St. Pancras something would drop. Well, it has. Reich has been withdrawn by the government as an official Liberal candidate. Joe is still boss of the quarterdeck.

MEDICAL OFFICERS MEET

Convention of Health Officials Will Be Held at Vancouver Next Week; Association Will Be Formed.

The principal medical health officers of the province will attend a gathering in Vancouver on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, to organize an association. Dr. Walter Bapty, of this city, is secretary of the meeting, which will be held under government auspices.

The four sessions of the convention will be in charge of Dr. Underhill, Vancouver; Dr. A. L. McQuarrie, New Westminster; Dr. E. C. Arthur, Nelson; and Dr. G. A. B. Hall, Victoria. Dr. Hall will also read a paper on infantile paralysis at the first session. Among the speakers will be Dr. Westbrook, Dr. J. E. Crichton, of Seattle, Prof. W. T. McDonald, livestock commissioner of the province, A. G. Dalzell, assistant city engineer, of Vancouver, and several coast medical men. Mr. Dalzell will deal with "Sewage Disposal."

Tuberculosis and infectious diseases in the schools find a place in the programme, as well as the milk supply, in connection with which an attempt is being made to introduce uniformity of practice into the methods prevalent in the lower mainland districts.

An excursion to the government farm at Coquitlam will be planned in connection with the convention, in order that the health officers may take advantage of the experience gained at the model dairy operated at the colony farm.

Membership of the organization is extended to medical health officers, assistant medical officers, bacteriologists and medical inspectors of schools.

Salmon Prospects Good.—W. B. Anderson, of the provincial fisheries department on his return from Barclay Sound stated that the prospects are for a highly prosperous salmon season.

Will Enforce Measure.—At a joint meeting of the police commissioners and health committee of the city council yesterday afternoon, it was resolved to enforce the Shops Regulation act, more particularly as it affects women employees. The enforcement will be left to Miss Macdonald, police-woman, and James Palmer, inspector of vehicles. The suggestion that the matter be taken up was made by the local council of women.

Pandora Avenue Widening.—With an arrangement reached as to the B. C. Electric railway property at the corner of Pandora avenue and Douglas street, the last obstacle to the removal of the obstructions to the widening of lower Pandora avenue has been done away with. Another building on that section of the street is being pulled down, it being the last in the part west of Blanshard avenue except the railway company's building, from which the south end has to be removed, the yard being also in need of slight reconstruction. This latter alteration will be made at the expense of the city. Between Blanshard and Amelia streets only the Goodacre property has to be altered, a strip coming off the front.

Dances on His Head.—One of the finest dancers we have seen in this city is at the Variety theatre the last part of the present week. Edward F. Harrity, of the Harrity Family, not only dances on his feet, but also on his head. He does a clog dance, this is entirely original and a great novelty.

Standing first on his feet, then his head, turning head springs, and never missing a step of the dance, is one of the great features of his dancing. The balance of the Harrity family also scored a tremendous hit with the audiences last evening. The "Imperial Trio" was also received with marked appreciation by the audience.

Both these vaudeville turns will be seen at the Variety theatre again, to-day and to-morrow.

Rode on Sidewalk.—Robert Roster was warned by Magistrate Jay this morning to desist from riding a bicycle on the sidewalk on Hillside avenue. Several complaints have been received by the police from people living in the district of this nuisance, and steps are being taken to have it stopped.

Many Alterations.—A noticeable feature of the street work going on in the city at the present time is the amount of work being carried out by the B. C. Electric railway. In all the cases where the city is putting down permanent paving, as on Fort street, Cook street, Pandora street and Bay street the tracks are being torn up and relaid, a circumstance which necessitates considerable work on the part of the street railway company.

Basket Picnic.—At the meeting of the Native Sons this week it was decided to hold a basket picnic on Saturday, June 20, at Brentwood Bay. Special arrangements are being made with the B. C. Electric Railway company for transportation, and special picknicks will be taken to the grounds. A programme of sports is being arranged, and everything will be done to make the affair a huge success. Other business at the meeting, which was presided over by Chief Factor Adams, consisted of the initiation of candidates, adopting of reports, and other routine matters.

The drawing will take place at the theatre on Monday evening at 9 o'clock and the result then will be announced on the screen.

Tenders Asked.—Tenders are being called for by the department of public works for the erection of a six-room school-house at Harewood, Nainai, to be in by July 6.

Missing Eighteen Months.—Anyone knowing the whereabouts of Henry Godfrey, formerly a member of the crew of the Shearwater, who, however, purchased his discharge in 1912, is asked to communicate with the police, as the missing man's parents in Maldstone, Kent, Eng., are anxious as to his welfare.

Water Board.—A meeting of the water board will be held at Merritt on July 17, to inquire into claims to water rights in the Nicola river, below the mouth of Clapperton creek and all streams draining into the Nicola below that point, including the Coldwater, Gulchon, Mamet and other creeks.

Award Increased.—Two appeals from the decision of the arbitrator in Canadian Northern railway expropriations in Saanich were heard by Chief Justice Hunter yesterday. C. A. Tervo's appeal from an award of $2,280 was allowed and the award was increased to $4,000. Perry Finch's appeal from an award of $4,350 was not allowed, however, the amount being deemed sufficient. F. C. Elliott represented the owners and E. C. Mayer the railway.

Institutes Organized.—Certificates of incorporation have been issued by the minister of agriculture to two new farmers' institutes. The Seymour Arm District Farmers' institute will have its headquarters at Seymour Arm and will do business in that place, Albas, Beach Bay and Anestey Arm. The Nitinat Farmers' institute is to be situated at Nitinat Lake, and will do business in that part of the province surrounding Lake Nitinat, Renfrew and Alberni districts.

Has New Invention.—A new invention for the preservation of human life in wrecks and boating accidents has been made by O. G. Martin, manager of the Interior Hardware Co. Steps are being taken to have the invention protected. It comprises a sort of underclothing, which, it is claimed, will keep a man afloat in water for an indefinite period. Should the suit prove the success that is anticipated, it is said the invention will be a valuable asset to the life-saving appliances now in vogue.

THE INSURANCE CO-OPERATION

The life insurance men have caught the spirit of co-operation. They are preparing a country wide advertising campaign to preach the reasons why life insurance is needed.

In this campaign the daily newspapers will be the chief medium used.

In each locality the men who sell life insurance will be primed to reap the harvest that will follow.

They will follow up the advertising in a way that will return a treasure of premiums.

What the life insurance men plan to do can be done by any other great interest.

Failed To Stop.—V. S. Warren was fined $20 in the police court this morning for failing to stop his motor car at least ten feet behind a halted street car. The information was laid by Chief Langley and the infraction took place on Tuesday last at 12.30 o'clock.

Retail Grocers Convene.—The Retail Grocers' association is in session in the city of Vernon, with a good attendance of members from all the provincial centres. Very strong condemnation was voiced by many of the members at the action of the provincial department of agriculture in making a loan from the public treasury to the Farmers' Exchange, to the extent of $40,000, to carry on a trading business in opposition to and in competition with the retail merchants of the province.

Prepared Papers.—In connection with the forthcoming arrival of the Imperial Trade commission next fall, the council of the board of trade yesterday made arrangements to have several papers prepared for submission to the commissioners. One of these will be on "Harbours," by Captain W. H. Logan, while C. H. Lugin will offer a paper on "Railways," with special reference to the Seymour Narrows bridge project. Mr. McCurdy will come forward with a thesis on "Climatic Conditions" with special reference to fogs.

Victorians Elected.—At the annual meeting of the B. C. Pharmaceutical association in New Westminster, Joseph Emery, of Victoria, the retiring president, was elected to the council with T. H. Robinson, of Vancouver, and F. J. Mackenzie, of New Westminster. John Cochrane, of Victoria, and James Browne were appointed delegates to the Canadian Pharmaceutical association, which meets in August at Winnipeg. The annual meeting will be in Victoria in June, 1915.

Municipal Act Proclaimed.—By virtue of a proclamation of the lieutenant-governor in council, part XXII of the Municipal act, dealing with the municipal department and calling for inspection of municipal finance, is declared to be in force on and after June 15. This week's Gazette also contains formal announcement of the appointment of Robert Baird as inspector of municipalities and Owen Willis Ross as clerk in the office. Both these gentlemen have been for some time in office and preparing for the beginning of the department's activities on the date named.

Forestry Expert Dies.—Great regret was expressed by the minister of lands, Hon. W. R. Ross, and the staff of the provincial forestry department yesterday on the reception of the news of the death of Overton W. Price, who has been associated with the department here in an advisory capacity since its creation. The late Mr. Price was a Virginian but received most of his education in Rugby and at English and German universities. He was for some years in the service of the United States under Gifford Pinchot, but of recent years he had been in private consulting practice. He was an organizer of extraordinary capacity and was a genius in executive ability. Mr. Ross sent a message of sympathy to Mrs. Price on behalf of the province.

Anniversary of Home.—The W. C. T. U. convention will commemorate the 25th anniversary of the provincial refuge home in a fitting manner on June 18, when the evening will be devoted to different phases of the social service work. Rev. Wm. Stevenson will deliver an address upon "Social Service Ideals and Some Immediate Needs." Miss Elizabeth Gordon, a practical worker for the Presbyterian church in the province, will speak of her own work, "A Closer Glimpse of Social Service," while Mrs. Wm. Grant will give a resume of the 25 years' work. It is very gratifying to know that such faithful workers as Mrs. D. Spencer (president), Mrs. Shakespear, Mrs. Burkholder and Mrs. Wm. Grant have served continuously upon the managing board since the founding of the home. Mrs. Flett, who is so much appreciated, was also a member previous to becoming matron 11 years ago.

Amend Parks By-law.—Alderman

Dilworth, chairman of the civic parks committee, will move at the next city council meeting for an amendment of the parks by-law to regulate the question of authority over the allocation of playing areas in the city parks. The committee, after awarding certain grounds to playing teams, finds lacrosse men competing with cricketers and similar conflicts of authority, troublesome both to players and the park staff. A recent incident has forced action along this line.

Provincial Appointments.—Archibald C. MacMillan has been appointed police magistrate and judge of the small debts court for Kamloops; George K. McConkey, Halls Prairie, to be a justice of the peace; Richard Oldfield, Sidney, and Herbert G. Freeman, Hedley, to be notaries public; Almus N. Vars, Trout lake, to be mining recorder for Trout Lake mining division, deputy mining recorder for Ainsworth mining division and deputy registrar of the county court of West Kootenay; Arthur S. Tyrer, Victoria, to be a clerk in the audit office; Wilfrid R. Williamson, a clerk in the government agency at Nelson, to be a commissioner for taking affidavits; Councilor Isaac M. Lyman and Francis S. Moule, to be members of the board of license commissioners for the district municipality of Salmon Arm.

PLANS ACCEPTED

Tenders for New Connaught Seamen's Institute to Be Called for Next Week; Work to Proceed.

At the executive meeting of the Connaught Seamen's institute held yesterday, F. A. McDiarmid in the chair, the plans drawn up by J. C. M. Keith, architect, were submitted and passed for the new institute building to be erected on the foundations, the corner stone of which was laid by H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught. Tenders will be called for on Monday next, and the work will be proceeded with almost at once, the purpose being to have some sort of structure in place when the duke arrives here.

The structure, as designed in the plans, is to cost $7,500, all of which money is practically in sight. The building is to be only one story in height, although the walls will be made of sufficient strength to support three additional stories when these are required. The plans, as accepted, comprise a large hall, sufficient to accommodate 140 people, on the ground floor, as well as a large reading room and four bedrooms. The basement will have a big billiard room, a kitchen and bathrooms.

It is hoped that the building will be proceeded with by the end of the present month, as it is anticipated that it will take about three months to finish the structure.

Shipping News from Day to Day

TACOMA MARU BERTHS CANAL WILL PROVIDE HERE TWO DAYS LATE

Osaka Liner Docking Early To-morrow From Orient; Glenloch for Vancouver.

When day breaks to-morrow the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Tacoma Maru, Capt. Hamada, will drop anchor off William Head to await the arrival of Dr. Nelson, quarantine officer. As soon as she receives her pratique the Japanese steamship will head up to the outer docks. The Tacoma is coming here with 63 passengers and 245 tons of cargo and it is expected that she will be able to proceed to Tacoma about noon. The vessel is now two days behind her schedule and will have no time to waste if she is to get away from the Sound on her sailing date, June 23.

The two days she was late in leaving Kobe, Japan, have resulted in the Osaka ship reaching this coast behind time. She was scheduled to dock here on Thursday. The state funeral of the Empress Dowager of Japan, which was kept up for two days, marked the cessation of all work in the land of Nippon for that period of time. All shipping was tied up and schedules were considerably upset.

At her ports of call on the Sound large gangs of longshoremen will be employed to rush the cargo out of the Tacoma and show the outward cargo beneath the hatches.

Glenloch Passes Up.
At 11 o'clock this morning the Royal Mail steamship Glenloch, which was expected to call at Victoria, called off here to pick up a Vancouver pilot and proceeded. She has very little freight in her holds for this port and it was decided to have it discharged at the Terminal City and reshipped on one of the ferry boats. The Glenloch comes from the United Kingdom via Oriental ports and has made an average passage out. Good weather on the Pacific enabled her to come across from Yokohama in smart time.

RESOLUTE WINS AGAIN

Associate Press Boat, Off Sandy Hook, N. J., June 12.—(By Wireless.) Resolute, the flag officers' yacht, triumphed to-day for the fifth time over her rival cup candidate, Vanitie, on the Sandy Hook course, winning without her time allowance. The official time gave Resolute a lead of nearly three minutes at the finish of the triangular course of thirty miles, over which the contest had been fought. Resolute finished at 2:23.57; Vanitie at 2:26.46 elapsed time, and the corrected time was Resolute 3:19.59; Vanitie 3:25.59.

Defiance, on account of the necessity for re-rigging, was not entered in today's race.

Much British Columbia Fir Expected to Move to Ports on Atlantic Coast

Following the opening of the Panama canal a new market will be opened for British Columbia lumber. In the past the fir shipments have for the most part been to Australia, South Africa, South Sea Islands and South America, with an occasional ship taking a full cargo through to the United Kingdom. But owing to the inability of the shippers here to land lumber at Eastern Canadian and United States ports at a reasonable price, because of the high freight rates, little of British Columbia's chief product has found its way to the Atlantic seaboard.

But with the Panama canal opened and the distance between here and the east cut in two, shipping men expect to see large quantities of lumber floating to the new market. The new business was greatly stimulated by the award of a contract for the supplying of 24,000,000 feet of lumber for the Toronto harbor works to the Genoa Bay mills. This huge shipment is to be carried through the southern waterway by vessels of the Robert Dollar fleet.

Demand Will Grow.
There is no doubt that the demand in the east for British Columbia lumber will grow as soon as it is discovered that the material can be landed there at a very nominal rate. Huge quantities of lumber are annually consumed along the Atlantic sea coast, and there is no reason why the mills of this province should not share in the business.

Many millions of feet of lumber are sent offshore in sailing vessels and steamships every year by the mills, and the locating of the new market will mean the enlargement of plants and the employment of more mill hands. During the early days of the canal it is expected that lumber will be one of the chief items in the cargoes of steamships bound to the eastward.

MINNESOTA'S FAST RUN

Seattle, June 12.—Although she was delayed three days at Kobe by the funeral of the Dowager Empress of Japan, the Great Northern S. S. Co.'s liner Minnesota, Capt. Thomas W. Garlick, steamed into port at 7:30 last night on schedule.

The big craft sailed from Yokohama at 5 p.m. May 29, one day behind her advertised time of departure, and aided by what Capt. Garlick described as the finest weather he has ever seen at sea, was able to gain a day's time during the passage.

TO TAKE CENSUS OF SEALS ON PRYBLOFF

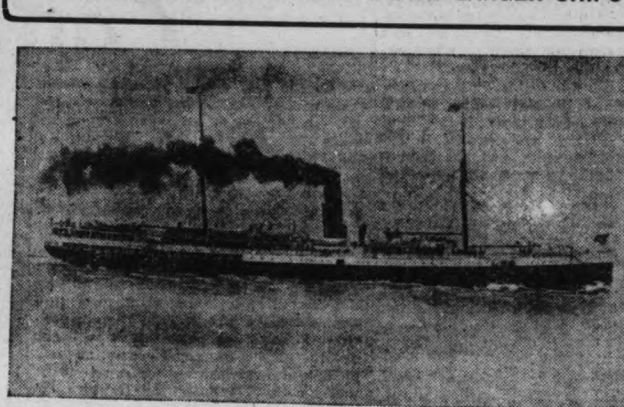

Two Canadian and Three United States Commissioners to Visit Northern Islands

Seattle, June 12.—The three United States commissioners who are to spend the summer at the Prybloff Islands in a study of the propagation of seals in northern waters, are in the city awaiting the coming of the two Canadian commissioners before embarking on the revenue cutter McCullough for the north.

The scientists chosen to represent the United States are: W. H. Osgood, of the biological department of the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago; Dr. George H. Parker, professor of biology, Harvard; and Edward A. Preble, of the U. S. biological survey. All three are men of considerable experience in the north, and are familiar with the animals found there.

Their present commission will entail a study of the seals at their breeding grounds on the islands of St. Paul and St. George, with the object of determining the rate of increase and whether the killing of a certain number of males each year affects the rate of propagation.

An actual census of the seals which come to the rookeries will be among the tasks of the commission. Exactly what method of taking the census and marking the seals will be employed has not been determined, according to Mr. Osgood. In the past various methods have been suggested and used, such as the shaving of one side of the head and branding with iron.

Numbers Greatly Reduced.
It is estimated that the seal herd, at the time the United States acquired the islands, numbered no less than 1,500,000. This number has constantly diminished, and there has been a great variance of opinion as to the proper methods of managing the seal industry. The slaughtering of seals was prohibited for a period of five years by an act of congress in 1912, except for the purpose of supplying the natives of the Prybloff islands with food.

Treaties have been entered into between the United States, Canada, Russia and Japan, governing the conduct of the seal industry. The pelagic sealing treaty of 1911 abolished the industry of 15 years. The government handles directly whatever skins are taken.

The first actual census of the seals taken, which was in 1912, the first season after the prohibitory law went into effect, showed the herd to contain 215,940 seals, which was estimated to represent a gain of 30,000 over 1911. The census about to be taken will indicate what rate of increase has been made under the protection of the law.

It is expected that the McCullough will sail late to-day or to-morrow, immediately after the arrival of the Canadian commissioners. The steamer Melvin Dollar, which has been chartered by the bureau of fisheries to carry supplies for the summer to the Prybloff islands, will follow next week.

CANADA CAPE LOADS SUGAR.

The British steamship Canada Cape, under charter to the Union Steamship Company, of New Zealand, will sail from Suva, Fiji, on June 18, with sugar for Vancouver. The steamship is expected on July 8 and will leave about July 13 for San Francisco to load for Sydney and Melbourne. She will return in the service via Suva in October, following the Wyandotte, which is due in September.

CAPT. KENNEDY HERE.

Capt. W. R. Kennedy, of Los Angeles, Cal., marine superintendent on the Pacific coast for Andrew Ward & Co., arrived in town yesterday from the south. He is here to look after the overhaul of the oil-tanker Desaba, which is now on the blocks in the Esquimalt graving dock. The vessel will float out to-morrow and proceed on her way to Port San Luis for another cargo of oil for North Pacific ports. Capt. Kennedy is stopping at the Empress hotel.

BALE'S NEW CRUISER ARRIVES AT SEATTLE

Sixty-Five Foot Palatial Craft Will Be Here To-morrow From Orient

Some time to-morrow the new 65-foot cruising launch, built in Hongkong, for D. H. Bale, the well-known local contractor, is expected to arrive in Victoria. With her owner on board the trim and speedy craft will make her first trip by taking a run from Seattle to this port. The cruiser was brought across the Pacific from Hongkong on the deck of the Great Northern liner Minnesota, which reached the Sound yesterday, and to-day the craft was slung over the ship's side and lowered into the water by the powerful electric winches and derricks with which the four-master is equipped.

Mr. Bale left here some time ago for Hongkong to witness the launching of his yacht and to make arrangements to have her shipped across the Pacific. The length of the craft equaled the beam of the Minnesota and she was held in position on the levathan's deck by means of strong lashings. Her beam measures 14.6 and she is a good-sized craft.

Splendid Addition.
So far nothing has been learned as to the name which the new yacht carries. When Mr. Bale left here he was undecided as to the lettering for her bows and stern. She will make a splendid addition to the local flotilla of pleasure craft. She is magnificently finished inside and has excellent accommodation for a number of persons.

SAILER IN PORT LEAKING

Presumably as a result of heavy weather encountered on the voyage, the schooner Kona, with lumber from Grays Harbor for Adelaide, put in to Sydney on June 1 in a leaking condition, according to advices received to-day.

While the details of the accident were not given, it was stated that the vessel will probably have to discharge her cargo before repairs can be effected.

The Kona, a vessel of 642 net tons, built at Alameda in 1901 and owned by Hind, Rolph & Co., of San Francisco, had been active in the coastwise and offshore lumber trade from this coast for the past 13 years. She was 84 days on the voyage when she put in at Sydney.

NOME SHIPS IN ICE

Nome, Alaska, June 12.—The Alaska Steamship company's steamship Victoria, Capt. John A. O'Brien, arrived eight miles off shore at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, unable to come to an anchorage in the roadstead on account of a great mass of ice over six miles wide.

Capt. O'Brien, believing that it would be several days before he could begin discharging either passengers or freight, abandoned all attempts to make a landing and proceeded to St. Michael.

The ice is slowly moving westward and it may be a week before passengers or freight can be discharged.

The steamship Senator, of the Pacific Coast Steamship company, is in the ice off Nome, but is in no danger. The United States revenue cutter Bear, also in the ice, is standing by.

The steamer Corwin is in the ice between shore and the Senator and Bear. She has been trying to make her way to the outer edge of the great mass of ice, where it is safer.

EXHIBITS IN CASE GO TO HONG KONG

Magistrate There Will Take Evidence in Connection With Bo and Chow Cases

Magistrate Jay yesterday afternoon gave an order for the sending of the various exhibits in the cases of Charlie Bo and J. M. Chow, charged with forgery and perjury, to Hongkong, where the city magistrate will sit as a commission to take the evidence of J. J. Ting, about whose affairs the whole case revolves.

A long session yesterday afternoon was occupied chiefly in examination and cross-examination of the handwriting experts, J. E. Allen and J. H. Beatty. During close questioning by J. C. McIntosh, counsel for the defence, both experts stated their first opinion that the signature purporting to be that of J. J. Ting on the power-of-attorney was written by some other person, and that in their opinion the signature (from a comparison of his proved signatures) was J. M. Chow. Both experts proceeded to elaborate the premises whereby they had arrived at these conclusions, both finding in particular that the real signature of J. J. Ting was facile and unwavering, while the signature on the power of attorney, though in some respects a good copy, lacked in firmness and freedom. While some people might be taken in with the signature, the expert would not, they testified, neither in their opinion would the ordinary man who knew Ting's signature mistake that on the power of attorney for it.

J. H. Austin, barrister of this city, proved the signature of J. J. Ting on a declaration of trust, at the signing of which he had been present, while C. Weaver, ledger-keeper of the Quebec Bank, proved other signatures of J. J. Ting on various cheques which had passed through his hands. Detective-Sergeant O'Leary was also called and stated that Charlie Bo had had possession of the document in question—the alleged power of attorney—and had made a disposition of it in the trial of J. Gordon Grant for theft and forgery. At the premises of the Namhing Co., the sergeant added, he had asked Chow for cheques containing the signature of J. J. Ting, and Chow had presented to him those samples which had been produced in court. This completed the case for the crown.

For the defence J. C. McIntosh contended that the prosecution had utterly failed to show a prima facie case of perjury. He read extracts from the examination of Bo, which he said went to show that the evidence of Bo was that he received a document brought by a messenger boy which he believed to bear Ting's signature. INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONER.

To the Editor: It is with great pleasure that I have read in your paper the news of the appointment of Mr. Cuthbert as industrial commissioner.

Discussing the new appointment with some of my friends a dispute has arisen and I would ask you the following questions to elucidate this matter:

What salary is paid to the new commissioner?

What yearly expenses are allowed to him?

By what body said salary and expenses are to be paid?

As I found quite many citizens interested in this matter I think you would render a valuable service to the readers of your newspaper by giving the answer to above questions.

MALLIN TO RETURN
WANTS PRO. BOUT

Rough House Burns Now Challenges Barrieau; Gossip of the Ring

Sailor Mallin, of H. M. S. Algeria, who did considerable boxing here during the Algerine's stay last year, will be here again next month, and may enter the pro. ranks and challenge Frank Barrieau for the Western Canada championship. Mallin is a very clever boxer and carries a terrific wallop. Scotty McKay, the fast and hard-hitting local mixer, will join the ranks of the pros. possibly this month, and a bout between him and Mallin would draw well. They met in a four-round bout at one of the V. I. A. A. smokers and their exhibition was a treat. Should the two hook up, the bout would hardly go the limit, both being such exceptionally hard hitters.

Joe Jeanette, fresh from his tour of Europe, says Frank Moran will not last five rounds with Johnson on June 27.

Jess Willard will leave for Europe next week to challenge the winner of the Johnson-Moran scrap.

The winner of the Murray-Chip fight will battle with the victor of the McGorty-Clabby encounter for the middle-weight championship.

Joe Bayley writes that Burns is the type of fighter he likes to battle. He is confident of winning inside of 15 rounds.

Harry Willis is the latest negro heavy. He has outpointed Sam Langford and Joe Jeanette in easy style and will challenge Jack Johnson.

Terry Kellar, an American heavy, is making a splendid showing in the Old Country.

Colin Bell and Bombardier Wells fight on June 29 in London.

Charley (Rough House) Burns is out with another challenge to Frank Barrieau, and declares he is willing to meet Barrieau at 145 pounds ringside for any distance from fifteen rounds up. Barrieau and Burns met at the Steveston Arena last fall at 135 pounds, when Barrieau was given the decision over Burns. Burns is scheduled to meet "Frenchy" Vaise in Prince Rupert on July 1.

SPORTING GOSSIP OF THE DAY

Ernie Leeper, who played a few games with the St. Francisco team, is batting .375 in the Mainland league.

Joe Bayley will fight Burns on June 19 at Oakland.

Ed Steele's average in the Mainland league is .222, while Gravin has an average of .333.

Calvo looks to be the most valuable player in this league.

Walt Gravin is tied for the mainland base-stealing honors, having three to his credit.

Marty Nye is hitting the ball hard these days.

Callahan and Eastley should be able to keep Portland in the race.

Beacon Hills play the Bankers at Beacon Hill Sunday morning.

Cincinnati is giving New York a hard fight for first place.

Joe Benz is the pick of the American league pitchers this season.

A number of St. Francis players are forming a semi-pro team at Port Angeles.

Ritchie is on his way to England.

Moran, Wilhoit and Calvo, form the fastest outfield in the league.

Nick Williams is hitting the ball at the right time.

Bert Lamb continues to play sensational ball on third.

The City Messengers and Bees are pressing Beacon Hills hard for the leadership of the junior league.

Mike Gibbons is likely to outpoint Billy Murray this month.

Pop Arlett and Brenegan have joined the Spokane squad.

McCluskey plays a fine game at short for the junior Bees.

Beacon Hills' infield is the pick of the junior league.

North Wards are confident of winning the intermediate league.

WANT QUEBEC STAR.

Ottawa, June 12.—The Pacific Coast Hockey association has filed a claim for Tommy Smith, formerly of Quebec and now of the Ontarios. The claim was taken up at the recent meeting of the N. H. A. and was held over until the next meeting, when it will be threshed out. At the next meeting a number of important changes in the rules will be made.

INTERNATIONAL TEAMS
FOR 'FRISCO MEET

Lyons, France, June 12.—Official recognition of the new athletic games to be held at the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco was voted at a meeting of the International Amateur Athletic federation.

The resolution was proposed by James E. Sullivan, president of the American Olympic committee and carried unanimously. Representatives of all nations present promised to do their utmost to encourage the sending of teams to the games. The first meeting of the full congress was held in the stock exchange here.

OUTSIDER WON STAKES.

Newbury, Eng., June 12.—The Newbury Summer cup, a handicap of $1,250 was won here yesterday by Mortimer Singer's four-year-old bay colt Florist, by Florist II, Laytown, carrying 8 stone 11 lb. and starting at 100 to 8. J. Buchanan's Marten, 6 st. 13 lb. 7 to 2, was second, and Sir Abe Bailey's Son-in-law, 6 stone 9 lb., 50 to 1, third.

TIME LIMIT WINS
FOR THE RESOLUTE

Sandy Hook, N. J., June 12.—A time allowance enabled the Resolute to win yesterday's cup defence preliminary, although she crossed the finish line nearly two minutes behind the Vanitie. The thirty-mile race over a triangular course furnished one of the most thrilling contests since these trials began.

The creations of Herreshoff and Gardner had another duel because the Defiance did not enter the race. The owners of the Tri-city sloop were not satisfied with the fit of her rigging. Vanitie found the light winds to her liking on the first two ten-mile reaches, and led until after the yachts had started for home. The corrected time gave Resolute the victory by one minute 16 seconds.

MANY EVENTS FOR
R. V. Y. C. YACHTSMEN

Several boats have been entered for the week-end dinghy races, which will be held over the Cadboro Bay course to-morrow. On June 20 the R.V.Y.C. power boats will race from Cadboro Bay to Brentwood in competition for the Brentwood hotel cup, and a week later the local club will send a fleet of yachts to Port Townsend where the local boats will meet the Seattle Yacht club fleet in the first pleasure cruise of the season.

COOMBS NOMINATED.

Kennebunk, Maine, June 12.—John W. Coombs, the Philadelphia American league pitcher, was nominated for state senator at the York County progressive convention. Coombs' home is here.

Sir Richard McBride to Face Ball at Royal Athletic Park To-morrow Afternoon; the Line-up of Clubs for Contest Here

New Westminsters have refused to travel on the same boat with the V. A. They express great confidence in their ability to win the contest to-morrow.

Secretary Scragg, of the V. A. C., arrived in town this morning to complete arrangements for the game. Tickets have been placed on sale. It is probable that Sir Richard McBride will face the ball.

The game will start at 4.30 and the teams will take the field as follows:

BEES WINNERS IN SENSATIONAL GAME

Lamb's Hitting and McHenry's Twirling Features of Yesterday

Big league support and some timely hitting by Bert Lamb enabled McHenry to chalk up Victoria's third victory of the week at the ball park yesterday, the smoke clearing with the score 3 to 2 in favor of the local athletes. That Victoria's luck has changed may be taken from the fact that the loser of yesterday's sizzling contest was none other than Patrick Donovan Eastley, the famous slayer of the Bees in years gone by. It used to be that Patrick could toss the ball like a stone and the eighth the Victoria men did not heed the jinx, but went right out and battered the invaders into submission. It was a fast game, the full nine innings being run off in an hour and twenty-five minutes.

McHenry displayed more stuff than on any previous start in the capital. He allowed but five hits, struck out five and issued four passes. He was exceptionally good in the pinches, and his support never faltered. Victoria opened the game in the second with a brace of tallies on Wilhoit's single and Lamb's homer. A few scattered singles was all that Victoria could get after that until the eighth, when Portland tied the score. Eastley walked, and Coltrin put one to the centre field screen for two home runs, scoring Eastley. Pat Callahan hung up his third hit and Coltrin pattered across the pan with the tying run. Nye led off Victoria's half with a pass and was sacrificed to second. Wilhoit pounded one over second, but Callahan's good peg caught Marty at the plate, Wilhoit taking second on the play. Lamb then punched one to left, scoring Wilhoit. Kelly followed with a clean hit to centre, but Delmas was thrown out by Guigni. A snappy double play by Kelly stopped Portland's rally in the ninth.

Kelly and Lamb divided the fielding honors, while Callahan's hitting was a treat. Umpire Casey had several arguments, Eastley being convinced that the arbiter was trying to hand Victoria the game.

Two games were set for to-day, starting at 3.30 p. m. and 6.10 p. m. Pope and Leonard were picked to oppose each other in the first clash, with Steele and Franch in the second contest.

Joe McGinnity has released Bloomer and is trying out Boeckel, a California youngster, at second base, McMullin playing short.

Lynch had it all framed up to send Dave Gregg to Lou Nardye's Edmonton team and he was to get a young pitcher named Hanson from the Portland club. He followed around and found that Hanson had less control than Gregg so he decided to keep David. Now that McCorry has a bad arm, Gregg will likely get a chance to work.

New York, June 12.—The rumor will not down that there will be two changes in the International league circuit before the present season ends. The plan to shift the Jersey City club to Ebbets Field and the Montreal club to Forbes Field, Pittsburg, is said to be in the hands of the national commission, the members of which regard it with considerable favor. The object of this move is to provide continuous conflicts at home with the Brookfields and Pittsfields.

It is likely the present umpire staff of Casey, Burnside and Wheeler will be used through the season. Casey, of course, is a fixture, while Burnside seems to be getting away all right. Four umpires who have worked in the circuit this year have left. Wright, Knowlton and Shuster having been let off, while Frary quit and went to Alaska on a moment's notice.

Mike Lynch has learned by submitting to an X-ray examination that a small piece of bone had been chipped off his elbow when he was hit by a pitched ball on the funny bone. He will be out of the game for several days. Meanwhile Hogan, formerly with the Athletics, is playing in centre field.

COWICHAN ELEVEN WILL PLAY HERE

Important Matches in Island League Schedule; Regina After Cup

Several very important matches in division A of the Island Cricket league are booked for to-morrow afternoon. In division B, the league leaders, the Civil Service eleven will not play, but Oak Bay will meet the Men's Own team, while the Albions and Restorers will meet at Beacon Hill. In division A the University Incegs, and Cowichan will play on the University school grounds, the local eleven being anxious to defeat the up-Island team, which has been sweeping all before it. The scheduled games to-morrow are: A. Garrison v. Oak Bay, Work Point; A. Nanaimo vs. Victoria, Nanaimo; A. Incegs v. Cowichan, University school; B. Victoria vs. Navy, Jubilee hospital; B. Oak Bay vs. Men's Own, Oak Bay; B. Albion v. Restorers, Beacon Hill.

The following is the Men's Own cricket team selected for the match against Oak Bay "B" at Oak Bay, to-morrow. The team will assemble at the corner of Douglas and Fort streets at 1.30 p. m.: A. Callett, W. R. Paragitter, A. E. Lea, R. V. Lea, E. R. Locke, J. Moffat, G. Leeming, W.

Erickson, H. Searle, J. W. Clarke, Re-serves, W. Symonds and W. T. Telfer.

Regina cricketers are determined to take the Ross Robertson cup, emblematic of the amateur cricket championship of Canada, to Regina during the coming season. Fired by the example of the Victorians in carrying the Allan cup to Regina, there is a very strong movement on foot among the cricketers of Regina to follow in the footsteps of the hockey players and consolidate the four teams in the city into one big club, so that it will be possible to send a representative team to Winnipeg next fall in a strong effort to lift the Ross Robertson cup.

Playing against fifteen of South Canterbury, the Australian team touring in New Zealand scored 322 runs for nine wickets. J. N. Crawford made 354, at one time hitting up 50 in ten minutes.

The Civic Athletic association cricket team plays the Christ Church Cathedral Cricket club at Beacon hill park (Burns monument) to-morrow at 2.30 p. m. The civic team follows: G. W. Allison (captain) George McIlmoy, J. M. Turner, F. Bosson, H. Bosson, A. V. Danby, A. E. Haynes, W. B. Fisher, C. Royal, W. Telford, George Morgan, Re-serves.—E. Hooper, E. Palmer and C. Dear.

BAPCOS LOOK LIKE COMING CHAMPIONS

Defeat Bissell's in Easy Fashion; Rendall's Lose to C. P. R.; Junior Results

Outclassing their opponents in every department of the game, the fast Bapco team easily won from the Bissell nine at the Royal Athletic park last evening 18-2. Kerr in the box for the winners, pitched air-tight ball and could have scored a shut-out, while the offerings of Whitworth and Lea were batted to all corners of the lot. Ray Bray, star Bapco first-sacker, continued to hit the ball hard. He led both teams, securing a three-bagger, two doubles and a single in four trips to the plate. Milne was the fielding star at short for the Bapcos, while Geo. Burns, a veteran of the old Victoria nine, played a good game in the field. George Smith umpired the game. The batteries were: Bapcos—Kerr and Robertson; Bissell's—Wentworth, Lea and Stockdale.

Rendall's Outlaws were defeated by the C. P. R. nine on the latter's diamond last evening by the score of 5-4. McGregor pitched good ball for the Outlaws, but his support was ragged. Woods in the box for the winners pitched air-tight ball and deserved to win. Rivercombe drove out a home run for the victors.

Dynamitis' wrecking crew failed to connect with the sharp breaking curves of Milne and the Messenger nine won 6-3. By doing so the Messengers secured second place in the junior league race. Milne pitched a remarkable game, allowing but six hits, while his team-mates batted the offerings of Parfitt hard. Milne fanned thirteen opponents and his control was perfect. Denny catching for the delivery boys, was in good form, flagging all base runners.

A feature of the game was the playing of McLeod at short. He handled eight chances without an error, while McCluskey and Taylor were the outstanding stars on the opposing nine.

Beacon Hills won their game from the Camosuns by default.

Esquimalts gave the league leaders, North Wards, a hard fight last night, rallying in the ninth inning and scoring five runs. They failed to overtake the blue suits, however, and the game ended 9-8. Taylor was in good form for eight innings and held the Esquimalt boys helpless, but in the last period he weakened badly.

V. I. A. defaulted to the White Sox.

On Tuesday evening at Beacon Hill the Bankers put away the city ball nine to the tune of 10-2 in a fast game of ball, featured by the work of the Bankers' battery, Curry pitching glittering ball and Park receiving his delivery perfectly. The Bankers will play the fast Law Students' nine to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 on the North Ward grounds.

A. D. Kean, Now Living in Victoria, Will Record British Columbia Scenes

Arthur D. Kean, holder of the British Columbia championship in cowboy contests, has had every opportunity of developing horsemanship ability. He was born in Manitoba, raised in Texas, and learned his trade in British Columbia. There are not three parts of North America where horsemanship is valued more highly than those three, and since Mr. Kean, who has come to reside in Victoria, lived on ranches in all three places his proficiency is hardly to be wondered at.

Mr. Kean has taken up the occupation of moving picture photography, and his coming to Victoria is to join the staff of the Capital Feature Film and B. C. Weekly company, in which he will have a share of the ownership with L. J. Quagliotti. He is the first moving picture camera operator to come to Victoria to live and follow his profession. He has not entirely given up his cowboy proclivities, however, and expects to join in another attempt at the world's championship before he stops.

His ambition to enter the moving picture business was stirred up originally through his interest in ordinary photography, and finally through posing for the camera at the Calgary round-up. Since then he has been actively engaged in taking pictures, and has produced some beautiful films of British Columbia life. On Wednesday he was an object of universal interest as, from an automobile, he took pictures of the Oddfellows' parade. Absence of enough film prevented his taking all of the parade. Some 4,000 feet of film arrived yesterday.

To-day he took pictures of the fire department's demonstration at the Spencer building, and on Sunday morning he will take the Fifth Regiment's parade to camp.

Although his chief experience in the moving picture business has been before the camera Mr. Kean has had not a few adventures behind it. At Minoru park last summer he was knocked over several times during the broncho-busting competitions when he took his camera too close to the scene of action. Once a bull knocked him off his horse, and trampled all over him, the horse and the camera. He still lives.

An old-time picture operator at the Winnipeg championship rough-riding competitions a year ago stated that Mr. Kean on that occasion furnished the most sensational picture he had ever taken. It was in the wild horse race, and Mr. Kean was given a particularly wicked old gray mare.

With the assistance of his two helpers, Stanley Whitney, the champion trick and fancy rider of Alberta, and Blacky Chisholm, of Brick Bar creek, B. C., he succeeded in saddling the mare third among the competitors, but no sooner did he mount the animal than she turned a back somersault. This was repeated five times, and the operator got it all. On each occasion the animal alighted on her back, and it was only by clever work that Mr. Kean escaped with his life.

Finally deciding that it was no use to try and ride her in the ordinary way he merely threw one foot across the saddle and hung on the side. The mare thinking that she could throw him from this posture began to buck, and bucked sideways all the way around the half-mile track. Not once, however, did she shake herself free of her rider. Mr. Kean finished some 10 minutes after the last previous competitor, but the camera and the crowd had witnessed one of the most magnificent pieces of riding in the race.

The cowboys of this province are attached to Mr. Kean, and have promised to assist him in staging before the camera a number of scenes of British Columbia cowboy life in the form of contests and tests of skill as well as comedy dramas. Mr. Kean states that this is the last place in the British Empire where such scenes can be staged, and he believes that the pictures will be a big attraction all over the circuits of the world.

BANK DINES CITIZENS

Union Bank Shows Appreciation of Aid of New Hazelton Men Who Captured Bank Robbers.

An interesting event occurred at New Hazelton when the Union Bank tendered a dinner to the citizens as an evidence of its appreciation of the successful efforts of the informal posse which went after the gang of robbers who held up the New Hazelton branch of the Union Bank recently. A. E. Christie, Victoria manager of the bank, and H. H. Rowley, the Vancouver manager, went to New Hazelton to arrange the programme and a most enjoyable evening was spent, in which many optimistic remarks were made upon the future which was bound to come to a city of such unbounded public spirit.

P. Vibert, superintendent of B. C. branches of the Union Bank, proposed the first toast following that to the king, and his subject was the citizens of New Hazelton. D. McLeod and D. R. McLean, members of the posse which captured the brigands, replied. A. E. Christie, of Victoria, proposed the toast to the district of New Hazelton, and Dr. H. C. Wrinch and F. L. McKinnon replied.

The toast to the ladies was proposed by the chair and replied to by W. J. MacKenzie and R. Paget. At the conclusion Boyd C. Affleck arose and proposed the guests at New Westminster, to which H. H. Rowley, of Vancouver, replied. He in turn proposed a hearty drink toast to the host of the evening, R. J. McDonnell, proprietor of the Northern hotel.

ABDUL AZIZ SAVED BY LORD KITCHENER

Death Sentence of Convicted
Army Officer for Inciting
Arabs of War, Commuted

Abdul Aziz, one of the most brilliant officers in the Ottoman army, has just been saved from death after condemnation by a court-martial. Representations in his behalf were made to Sultan Mehmed V. by Lord Kitchener, the British diplomatic agent in Egypt. Abdul Aziz is a cousin of Zulficar Pasha, Governor of Cairo, and is regarded as a hero by millions of Arabs in Egypt, Tripoli and Arabia. He was condemned to capital punishment on charges relating to his conduct in the war with Italy. Included in the charges was one of having accepted money from the Italians. Another accusation was that Abdul Aziz caused the trouble between the Arabs of Cyrenaica and the Turks with the object of founding an Arab caliphate with himself as ruler of the country.

The question of dealing with the immense Mohammedan population in India and Egypt has always been a problem of great difficulty for Great Britain and the most accomplished diplomacy has had to be employed to prevent an uprising which might have disastrous effects on British prestige.

Abdul Aziz Ali Bey has had a spectacular military career. He was first in his class on graduating from the Ottoman Military academy. For ten years he fought the Bulgarian "committees" engaged in arousing Macedonia to revolt against the Turks, and was one of the founders of the committee of union and progress in Macedonia.

On the fall of Abdul Hamid, in bringing about which Abdul Aziz had taken a prominent part, he worked heart and soul with the Young Turks. He was in several battles with the Greek "committees" along the Greco-Turkish border and led an expedition against the Albanians. He served for nearly a year under Ismet Pasha in the campaign in the Yemen and after his return to Constantinople he became professor of tactics in the Military academy and was a colonel on the general staff.

At the outbreak of the Italo-Turkish war Abdul Aziz was sent to Cyrenaica in command of a regiment of regular troops and displayed such vigor and military genius that he was placed in command of the division of Arab-Turkish troops formed within a short time. He was the Ottoman commander at Benghazi for nine months, and at Deri for a similar period, leading his troops at the battle of Sidi Garbo.

Abdul was suddenly recalled by the minister of war in March last. He was arrested on his arrival in Constantinople and placed under a guard in the quarters of the commander of the garrison, uncle of Enver Pasha, the new minister of war. He was allowed to receive visits from personal friends there. Abdul Aziz made vigorous protestations of innocence, pointing to his private life and brilliant military record to bear out his assertions. He accused envious Young Turk leaders of having formulated false charges against him. The accusations against the commander were: Exciting civil war among the Arabs and causing discord between the Turks and the Senussi tribesmen, accepting bribes from the Italian invaders, misappropriation of funds sent to him for the expenses of the campaign and plotting to establish an Arab caliphate. The trial by court-martial began on March 15 and was absolutely secret. It was presided over by Gen. Remay Pasha.

When the news of the arrest of Abdul Aziz reached Egypt, where he was immensely popular, the indignation of the Arabs knew no bounds. The native press protested against the treatment meted out to "El Masri," as Abdul Aziz is known among the Arabs, by the Young Turk clique at Constantinople, and predicted an open rupture between Egypt and Turkey.

Scarcely had the sentence been made public when British diplomacy began to move. Affidavits in defence of Abdul Aziz were submitted to Lord Kitchener at Cairo, and although the British agent announced that it was difficult for him to interfere, as Abdul Aziz is an Ottoman subject, it is known that an appeal for clemency was made on England's part to the Sultan. The result of this plea is seen in the following note communicated to the press of Constantinople on April 15:

"An imperial trade commutes provisionally the sentence of death on Abdul Aziz Bey to fifteen years' imprisonment in a fortress."

The superintendent of the penitentiary was escorting a party of women visitors through the building. They entered a room where three women were busily sewing. As they turned to leave the room, one of the visitors said, "What vicious-looking creatures. What are they in for? They really look capable of committing any crime." "Well," replied the superintendent, "you see, they have no other home. That is my private sitting room, an dthey are my wife and two daughters."—Harper's.

REEVE EXPLAINS THE WATERWORKS SCHEME

Partial Service for Saanich Residents Outlined; $300,000 Cost; Details

While it is usually difficult to secure a large attendance at summer meetings, St. Mark's hall was well filled last evening when the Ratepayers' association of ward two, Saanich, heard Reeve McGregor explain the proposed waterworks scheme.

President J. C. Richards, of the association, occupied the chair.

The reeve stated that the council proposed to proceed under the local improvement act, as modified by the private measure affecting water and sewerage passed at the last session of the legislature. The municipal council would pass a by-law and advertise it, and if the necessary number of protests were not filed it would be passed through.

The council proposed a scheme costing about $300,000, as a part of the larger proposal to be considered later, entailing great expense. The present scheme proposed to take in the Gorge district, Parkdale, Tolmie avenue and Quadra street to Jackson avenue, in one section, and also the Cedar Hill district and possibly later a portion of ward four. Upon this, however, the council had not finally determined.

The council proposed to buy water in bulk from the city at 10 cents a thousand gallons, the reeve said, and to take over the existing local improvement areas. Of the sum mentioned $200,000 would be devoted to the mains and laterals, $30,000 to acquiring the existing water areas, and $5,000 for hydrants in connection with the fire services. Provision would be made for meters and for the acquisition of the city meters already installed, for the engineering expenses and for contingencies. Most of the streets were to have six-inch mains installed, and a few short streets four-inch mains, but the trunk roads would have not less than twelve-inch mains.

The municipality might acquire, the reeve explained, the city mains in connection with the Elk lake waterworks. If satisfactory negotiation with the city could be carried out. After considerable discussion as to payment for the services, the councillors had determined on a frontage tax. The intention of the council was to lay the mains by day labor (a sentiment which was applauded) and to place an order in the old country for water pipe. Possibly the council might have to buy some pipe locally in order to make a start with the work, the reeve continued.

The audience asked the reeve a string of questions on details of the proposal, among the questioners being ex-Reeve Nicholson, W. J. Waters, E. H. Cotterell and others. From the replies it developed that the present scheme is less than half of the engineer's proposal, which includes a main to Gordon Head.

The reeve undertook to make a start in about two months with the undertaking. The preliminary expenses had been paid out of revenue, but would be returned when the scheme was in hand, he said. No work, Reeve McGregor added, would be undertaken unless it was of a permanent character, dovetailing into the completed scheme. The council did not intend, he declared, to disturb the present mains, unless they were of such a character that it was impossible to expect them to be of any service in case of fire.

Reeve McGregor's statement had an encouraging reception from his audience. He was followed by Councillor Grant, who expanded the statement in certain details. Councillor Grant agreed with the questioner that the district must have a volunteer fire department, but it was useless to organize a department till mains were laid and the firemen had some water to use, he added. The arrangement with the city for the use of the Dunedin street motor chemical engine became effective as soon as it was installed at that hall.

E. H. Cotterell criticised the council for what he held to be dilatory action and for making appointments to the municipal service from outside the limits. He claimed that with the work proceeding under the local improvement act, the special act had been wasted and work could have been just as well commenced three months ago as today.

The reeve and Councillor Grant answered his objections, stating that they had had a great deal of data to secure, that the contours of the streets had had to be obtained, and that the engineering department had been working night and day to secure the essential information. So far as outside appointments were concerned, the reeve and the councillor defended their action, and declared that they were going to secure the best men for Saanich, irrespective of affiliations. "If you don't like the way we are running the affairs of the municipality," Reeve McGregor observed, "you can make a change."

The usual questions about details of administrative control, from the cost of telephone services to the sale of impure ice cream in the district, occupied a long period, and the meeting concluded at a late hour. The reeve told the meeting that the council intended to make an effort this year for taxation of the B. C. Telephone company's poles, etc. The council had been failed in trying to deal with the Canadian Northern Pacific railway, he added.

C. Pointer asked whether the railway company received rents for houses it owned in the municipality.

The reeve replied that the only exemption affected the right-of-way.

"PASSING SHOW OF 1913."

Unusual scenic magnificence, girls prettier and more gorgeously gowned than in any preceding winter garden attraction, and a cast of singers, dancers and comedians who are sure to become local favorites, are the big features of "The Passing Show of 1913," which will be seen at the Royal Victoria next Monday and Tuesday evenings.

From the first scene in the brief prologue, showing the tired business man seeking relaxation from the cares of every day life, to the final picture in the Oriental Suffragette Harem, the fun waxes fast and furious, the scenes change with bewildering rapidity and the costuming flashes before one in dazzling tints and shades and coloring.

The travesties on the hits of the past season, always a feature of the winter garden productions, are of the kind which provide innumerable laughs and include delightful burlesques on "Pag O' My Heart," "The Argyle Case," "Broadway Jones," "The Poor Little Rich Girl," "Joseph and His Brethren," "The Good Little Devil," "Stop Thief," "Within the Law," "The Five Frankforters," "The Conspiracy," "The Mind-the-Paint Girl" and "The Sunshine Girl." The big scene of the piece is that showing the Capitol steps.

AT THE EMPRESS.

Varied vaudeville with a wide range of features and numerous laughs interspersed, and unusually good moving pictures to round out the bill, is the programme at the Empress theatre for the remainder of this week.

Al Saxe makes his appeal to the audience as an exponent of modern musical masterpieces. The saxophone is his favorite instrument and he plays it in a way which marks him as its master. He also has a unique machine which gives an excellent imitation of the human voice.

Jessie Livingston also contributes to the musical portion of the show. As a singer and raconteur she has a pleasing manner and her stage presence adds to the attraction, making her number one of great acceptance. The dances and songs of Dehl and Carson are another leading feature of the bill. They are accomplished dancers and their staging does not suffer by comparison with their terpsichorean efforts.

The Morris offer a humorous sketch in which a dummy baby is involved. The title of the piece is "Wanted—a Nurse," and the complications which arise in it supply the mirth which seasons the whole evening's entertainment.

"A Watch Dog" is one of the moving pictures. It is a comic piece which is a success.

AT PANTAGES.

The most delightful feature of the bill at Pantages theatre this week is the tenebrous absurdity offered by the Merry Masqueraders. Interspersed with bright musical and pleasing dancing numbers, the act is one of the kind that stays in the spectators' memory. Several charming young girls are included in the company which presents the act.

Daisy Harcourt is an English comedienne. She has a number of songs which she renders acceptably and adds a lot of patter which is amusing and well presented. The sketch, "That Girl," is the vehicle which Mae Brewood and company use. It has numerous unexpected twists and moves with rapidity from the rise of the curtain, providing no small part of the humor which marks the entertainment.

An act of a very unusual kind is that of Salt Bush Bill. He cracks whips of all lengths and does it with apparent ease. He appeared before the king by royal request and wears a beautiful diamond pin as his reward. In addition to the above bill

Baking Powder Facts

Everybody knows that Dr. Price's Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar Powder. The names of its ingredients are published continuously, and scientists and physicians declare that a cream of tartar baking powder is the most efficient and healthful. Cream of Tartar is perfectly wholesome. It comes from the most healthful of fruits, the grape.

There are other baking powders—made of alum—which are altogether different. Alum is produced by a mixture of aluminum rock and sulphuric acid, and a portion of the alum is found unchanged in the food made from an alum baking powder. This statement is confirmed by expert analysts, one of whom, who made the official tests for the Government, certifies:

"I purchased at retail stores baking powders which I found to be made with alum, made biscuit with them in the manner prescribed on the labels, and subjected the biscuit to careful analysis. My experiments resulted in the extraction of considerable alum from the biscuit in every case."

It is lamentable that alum baking powders which have been condemned as unwholesome and driven out of Great Britain are permitted to be sold to the housekeepers of this country under the guise of pure and healthful food. Housekeepers must be on guard.

LOVE STORY OF CHARLES PARNELL

A ROMANTIC BOOK BY HIS WIDOW

New Light Shed on Character of Great Irish Leader

(From London Chronicle.)

There are many questions of taste, of literary style, and of historical accuracy raised by the publication of this remarkable book. Whether the love letters of a great man written in the intimacy of passionate affection should ever be revealed to the public is an issue which has often been raised; and which has already been raised with regard to these volumes. It is an academic question now; for the letters are there. It might also be said that the style of this book is often unletterary, and never more so than in passages which attempt to be fine writing. There are many palpable errors of fact, yet the book succeeds in giving finally a clearer, more vivid and more accurate portrait of a great man than anything about him which has yet been published. That mysterious and enigmatic figure, with the glittering but impetuous eyes; with the impassive expression revealing nothing except perhaps brooding melancholy and the obsessing participation of early and tragic death; with the deadly and sickly pale complexion that earned for him from descriptive writers the nick-name of "Rosespierre," "Sea-green Incorruptible"; that lonely figure that was scarcely ever seen in a social gathering; that often disappeared for weeks, even months, from the sight of men; whose mouth rarely opened except in public speech; that lonely and mysterious figure is at last revealed to the world, and revealed as most men of that type only can be revealed, through that frankness which comes between a man and a woman who love each other. The life of Parnell has yet to be written, but whoever writes it will have to go to this volume, above all others, for the best glimpses into the inner man, Mystery and Tragedy.

And now what is the Parnell we are to find revealed here, whispering to us his confidences, terrors, weaknesses, passions? In some respects he is as his generation knew him; but still impressions are created into certainties, and the veil is lifted so completely that he stands before us, 2 years after his body was committed to the grave in Glasnevin, as though he were in all his nakedness in the flesh and in the spirit. Let it be said that he bears well this terrible scrutiny; and that when the last word has been said about his frailties and his mortal errors of judgment and of conduct, he is still the great Parnell. He is still also the mysterious and the tragic Parnell. You see him fitting like an uneasy ghost from one country to another, and the hideous falseness of his position and the never silent conflict within his breast, between a devouring and guilty passion and the awful responsibility to a nation for its liberation, imposes upon him strange small stratagems, wretched devices, disguises even humiliating to one of so proud a nature and great a position. He takes false names; he has to employ cyphers in letters and telegrams; his address is unknown to nearly everybody—once he lives for a whole week in a room in the house of the woman he loves, without anybody else in the house—even the servants—suspecting his presence there. At one time he is like a criminal fleeing from the omniscient and oblique eye of the law; at another he recalls one of those young men whom their wife or mother or friend hid from the pursuing guillotine during the French Revolution. And pursuing, haunting, torturing him, there is the other and the third figure in the tragedy—the husband who knows of the passion and suspects its full guiltiness; knows also all its terrible meaning and perils.

Love Letters From Prison. There is one scene in the book which exceeds in pathos, in horror, in awesomeness, anything that can be recalled in even the literature of the drama, except, perhaps, the murder scene in "Macbeth," or, to take a more apposite illustration, the bridal night and morning of Romeo and Juliet. This is the scene. Before or soon after Parnell was a prisoner in Kilmainham jail he learned that Mrs. O'Shea was about to bear him one of the three children which were the fruit of their union. The man was stirred to the depths; his letters at this time come nearer to being love letters, in the trite acceptance of the phrase, than ever before. The correspondence which passed between the father and the mother of this ill-starred child when he was a prisoner separated from the mother, surrounded by all the horrors and terrors of the terrible revolution going on outside the walls, and yet bearing on the winds its echoes of peril to his cause, to his country, and to himself, throws a whiter light on the man's innermost thoughts and feelings than anything in the book. It is true the letters are not eloquent; indeed, they are trite, commonplace; and yet for all that, and because of that, they are the more impressive because of the burning passion that can be read under the prosaic and simple words.

A Pathetic Scene.

Parnell was released on parole—as those who lived through that time will remember—for a week from Kilmainham to attend the funeral of his nephew, who had died in Paris. But it was not to the side of his bereaved sister that he flew; it was to the arms of the woman whom he worshipped. And when he returns to England from his hasty trip to Paris, it is to her again he flies for the few hours of liberty that are left to him before he returns to the cell, brightened and yet a torture chamber because of her. The husband, suspicious, vigilant, an astute and experienced man of the world, is in the same house. In that same house, while the husband is asleep, there takes place the tragic farewell of the two lovers. The child born in tears and in circumstances of terror, sickness, the husband and the lover have stopped up late discussing the complicated and perilous political situation; the woman refuses to join them. "I would not," she says, "leave my baby;" and then comes this passage—so simple, so terse, yet so terrible: "they went to lie down for a few hours' rest before Parnell left for Ireland, my little one died as my lover stole in to kiss us both and say good-bye."

Turning for the moment to the other sides of Parnell which this book reveals there are almost constant glimpses of that curious passion which always pursued him, for semi-scientific studies. If Parnell did live in the Middle Ages he would have been regarded as a sorcerer as well as a great prophet. For he is always making experiments—sometimes in a room with small utensils, sometimes in an approach to a regular laboratory; and like the alchemist whose methods he resembles, it is usually in the search for gold. He is convinced that in his country of Wicklow there are deposits of gold; and he has the dream, half of the alchemist, half of the lover, that he will discover sufficient gold to line the wedding ring of the woman he loves. He becomes so absorbed in the work that he cannot be got to eat, or to go out on the beautiful horse and with the loved dogs that impatiently wait for their daily run. Indeed, and above all things, Parnell forgets in his experiments the most momentous hours and crises of the cause of which he is the leader, the dictator, the greatest hope.

On the very day when the Pigott forgery was before the House of Commons it is a matter of history that Parnell did not appear. Mr. Sexton, who had to bear the brunt of the terrific attack, had been nearly half an hour on his legs; and during those moments of torturing anxiety, all Parnell's colleagues were so many Sister Annes looking to the glass doors of the House of Commons with almost frenzied expectation for the appearance of that tall, pale, impassive figure that alone held the word of the terrible enigma. One learns from these pages that what defined him was his crucible and his specimens; and that he had actually to be driven out of his little laboratory by the woman who was more vigilant and anxious than himself. And this was on the day when a great Journal had given to the shocked and entire world the charge that he had been the associate of those who did one of the foulest and most fatal murders in history.

Parnell's Ill-Health. Another and most interesting and important light on Parnell is the constantly recurring story of his illnesses; and of his brooding anticipations; one of the most painful of all maladies, so often the cause that drives men, apparently in the very noonday sunshine of glory, prosperity and power, to self-inflicted death. Some of these pages suggest a great resemblance between Parnell who created the Modern Ireland and that other great spirit of Glive, who made the Modern India. And yet again when one reads of the superstitions which haunted Parnell the figure of another of the greatest men of action the world ever saw—Wallenstein—leaps to the eye. Indeed, the plain prose of this book often brings to memory the verses of Schiller's divine poem. Parnell is ill the very first time he pays a visit to Eltham, that little suburban village which was to be the central scene in one of the most poignant tragedies in history. He has a sore throat; then he falls asleep on the sofa "from sheer weariness"; he is almost at death's door. And he seeks for the explanation of his illness in all kinds of superstitious ways. It is the damp in the inside garden which Mrs. O'Shea waters every day; or it is a green spot in the carpet; he always hated and dreaded green. The watering is given up, and the green spot in the carpet is cut out and sent to London for analysis. Again and again we have records of illness. At the critical moment when what was called the Plan of Campaign was started in Ireland, he was so prostrate that he could not put pen to paper or even read a newspaper; he had a complete breakdown, produced by gastric trouble, which, in turn, was produced by overwork and anxiety.

And all these illnesses were aggravated by the inherent melancholy of the man. "Physically," writes Mrs. Parnell, "Parnell was so much afraid of pain and ill-health that he suffered in every little indisposition and was hurt far more than others of less highly-strung and sensitive temperament." He had such a horror of death that "it was only by the exercise of the greatest self-control that he could endure the knowledge or sight of it." But it is added, "his self-control was so perfect that never by word or deed did he betray the intense effort and real loathing he suffered when obliged to attend a funeral or be in any way brought in contact with death or the thought thereof." Whenever he passed a churchyard or cemetery with Mrs. Parnell, he turned his head away, or asked that another road should be taken to avoid the resting-place of the dead. And then comes this pathetic addition to this side of the story: "The only exception to this very real horror of his was the little grave of our baby girl at Chislehurst which he loved; but then he always said she did not die, 'she only went to sleep.'"

The Love Story.

Finally as to this book, the main thing that stands out from it is the love story. And every word upon it brings it out as one of the most real, the most complete and the most touching stories in the history of the world. It is as perfectly harmonious and as tragically inevitable as the story either of Romeo and Juliet or of Othello and Desdemona. In that respect it has the perfect simplicity and the dramatic harmony of something invented by the genius of the dramatist from the coinage of his brain, and not of this topsyturvy and complicated world. It begins by being apparently love at first sight. It came, curiously enough, through the initiative of the woman, and not the man. Mrs. O'Shea had sent Parnell frequent invitations to dinner; he had never accepted them, and at last she went to the House of Commons—partly in a spirit of bravado—to see him; and when they saw each other the story began at once which was to lead inevitably to the terrible and tragic end. Parnell accepted an invitation, went to dinner, then to a theatre, where, quite instinctively, he and the woman fated to destroy him and herself sat close to each other in the concealment of a seat shaded from the audience by curtains. It is not long before one sees that the passion is following its inevitable course. They take drives together in hansoms, reach some remote bank of the Thames, and gaze on the easy-flowing stream with all the intoxicating oblivion of time and conditions and terrors that love brings. And soon there comes the time when she is about to become a mother, and the lover, swept along by the tide of his fate as a political chief, has to go to jail.

The letters, that begin in formal language, soon change their tone, and Parnell addresses the woman in the terms of passionate affection; and soon he begins to call her wife and wife and "my Queenie."

Domestic Happiness. The story then proceeds without interruption. They become so necessary to each other that they can never be separated; she, indeed, has to watch like a nurse over this delicate and sombre man. If he be away from her even for a few days he is miserable; he pours letters and telegrams upon her; he is in a fever if she do not immediately reply. Hating society, this man so sought after; pining for tranquillity, this man who lived in the midst of political cyclones, in the House of Commons, in the tumultuous and worship-ping crowds of Irish hill-sides, Parnell appears in these pages as a man who found happiness only in the silence and solitude of the fireside with the woman and the children and the animals he loved around him. They continue even the poetry of life which usually dies with the early days of a passion. When she appears in the House of Commons he knows at once and instinctively that she is there; he signals to her by raising his hand or touching the rose she has put in his buttonhole, or he signals with his handkerchief. She waits around cold, gloomy and deserted railway stations for hours at night so that she may see that he eats the supper she has prepared for him. They take devious ways for journeys so that they may escape observation; then he breaks engagements by being unable to tear himself even for a few hours from her side. Meetings of his party, parliamentary crises, mass gatherings of tens of thousands in Ireland, are allowed to take place without him; for he cannot leave her. They take coffee together in the streets of London at the coffee stalls of the cabman and the tramp; they have moonlight walks. The day they are married they walk together by the sea at Brighton. He is ready to sacrifice anything and everybody for her. For her he forces the hated candidature of her husband on Liverpool and on Galway, and shakes his whole position to its very foundations. For her he contemplates the abandonment of his career, of his cause of his people. When the volcano at last bursts, he has no hesitation as to his course; he will fight for himself; because he is fighting for her. He forgets then superstitions, dread of pain, dread of death. He goes to a meeting and speaks with the rain falling upon him, and neglects to make the change of clothes she has prepared for him. He wears himself out by railway journeys, public meetings, passionate and painful conflict every week; until at last, worn out in the struggle to defend her, he comes home to die. The last words he utters before he sinks into the unconsciousness that is the beginning of the end are not, as was reported at the time, a farewell to his country and his colleagues. "Kiss me, sweet wife, and I will try to sleep a little"—this was his final utterance. And so ended one of history's most real tragedies—tragic to Parnell; more tragic to Ireland.

She was very literary, and he was not. He had spent a harrowing evening discussing authors of whom he knew little, and their works of which he knew less. Presently the maiden said archly: "Of course, you've read Romeo and Juliet?" He floundered for a moment and then made a brilliant plunge. "Well, I've read 'Romeo,'" he said.

To the pure, all things are pure; not only meats and drinks, but all kind of knowledge whether of good or evil.—Milton.

Ball at Exhibition Grounds
Draws Immense Crowd; Interesting Ceremony Held

Popularity and numbers are almost synonymous terms where a dance is concerned. Judged by this measure the ball held last evening at the big agricultural hall at the exhibition grounds, under L. O. O. F. auspices, was the most popular event of the kind which has ever taken place there. Something in the neighborhood of 2,450 people were reported to be present in the early part of the evening, when the exhibition drill and ceremony of decorating a number of ladies was performed by the Patriarchs Militant. The hall, which always presents a very gay appearance with its flags, streamers and pennants, was crowded to capacity, and it was only owing to the vigilance of the floor and other committees that accommodation was found for all.

Proceedings opened with an exhibition of drilling by the smartly-uniformed Patriarchs Militant, whose movements excited flattering comment on all sides. At the conclusion of this part of the programme Colonel Jensen, of Vancouver, drew up his staff at one end of the hall, there being joined by the lady speakers, Past President Sister E. Keith (New Westminster), Sister F. E. Simpson, grand secretary of the assembly; Sister A. E. Parker (Cranbrook), retiring president, and Sister F. C. Butterfield (Vancouver), vice-president.

The officers who took part in the conferring of the decorations were Col. N. Jensen, department commander; Col. C. S. Keith (New Westminster), retired; Lieut. Col. F. C. Dillabough (Victoria), Major J. B. Little (Calgary), Capt. E. E. Garliche (Centralia, Wash.), Capt. A. E. McLean, A. A. G. (Vancouver), Capt. W. H. Walsh (Vancouver), and captains from Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria. All wore their uniforms of black, with gold epaulettes and braiding, and purple and crimson plumed bonnets. The ladies wore white dresses, which threw out with greater boldness the coloring of their regalia, and the pink and green streamers which conveyed the colors of their order.

The decoration of chivalry was conferred on Sisters Butterfield, Lundie, Watts, Liddicoat, Herchimer, Atkins, Langdon, Evans, Grant, Bush and O'Neill, these ladies assembling in the centre of the hall while this mark of recognition of their faithful rendering of their obligations was bestowed. Little Frances Walker, daughter of one of the Victoria members of the fraternity, gracefully performed the ceremony of pinning on the jewelled decorations presented by Col. Jensen, who preceded this act by a short address to the ladies, in which he charged them with their duties. The chaplain pronounced the benediction and the ceremony concluded.

The final act in connection with the preliminary part of the evening's entertainment consisted of the awarding of prizes to several of the chivaliers and members in connection with the Patriarchs Militant competition, after which the grand march, led by Colonel Jensen and Mrs. Jensen, took place, this formally opening the ball.

Heaton's 16-piece orchestra supplied a programme of first-class music, the musicians sitting beneath a Patriarch Militant banner, which was the only distinctive feature introduced in the decorations of the hall. The supper arrangements, which were in the hands of Brother Thomas Graham, were all that could be wished, the refreshments being of the delectable, and the tables looking equipt with big vases of pink and white peonies, pink and white carnations, and streamers of crimson paper. Not a little of the success of this department reposed with the refreshment committee, Messrs. Dempster and Livingstone, and despite the enormous crowd there was an abundance of everything, the lemonade and ice-cream counters being particularly well patronized.

The chairman of the general committee, P. G. M. Henderson, spent a busy evening supervising things, and in Thomas Hubbard, the floor manager, found a capable assistant. The reception committee was composed of Sisters Bowers, Walker, Dempster, Grant and Livingstone.

Dancing commenced shortly after 9 o'clock; continued until an early hour this morning, arrangements having been made with the B. C. Electric for an excellent service of cars, which undoubtedly made the occasion much more enjoyable for most of those at the function.

Among those present were Colonel Jensen and Mrs. Jensen; the Mayor and Mrs. Stewart; Alderman Fullerton and Mrs. Fullerton; Colonel C. S. Keith and Mrs. Keith; Alderman McNeill and Mrs. McNeill; District Grand Master Reynolds and Mrs. Reynolds (Sask.); H. Dudley, retiring grand master, and Mrs. Dudley; D. G. M. White and Mrs. White; P. W. Dempster, G.S.W., and Mrs. Dempster; Fred. Davey, M.P.P., grand secretary; W. H. Brown, grand treasurer, and Mrs. Brown; and the following ladies of the Rebekah assembly: Sister A. E. Parker, president; Sister Jennie Grant, vice-president; Sister Walker, secretary; and Sister Butterfield, treasurer.

WED YESTERDAY.

Miss Margaret B. Miller and Albert J. Rhodes Principals in Pretty Event.

A pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized yesterday at the residence of the officiating minister, Rev. Dr. Cameron, 455 Chester street, when Margaret Brown Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Miller, of Belfair, Scotland, and Albert John Rhodes, of Esquimalt, were united in marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes are spending their honeymoon touring the Sound cities, and on their return will proceed to their new home at Cobble Hill.

"SWEDE LARSON"

A Wonderful Rex Drama of the Canadian Woods, Featuring Robert Leonard in the Title Role

At Romano Theatre, To-day and To-morrow.

Robert Leonard in his interpretation of the title part of "Swede Larson" has done the best piece of work in his career. Every word, look and action is that of the big, raw-boned, stupid Scandinavian of the Northwest logging country; stupid, yet shrewd; brutally powerful, yet clumsily tender. His huge physique lends itself naturally to such a role and he plays it as nearly perfectly as is possible.

"Everyone has heard of 'the influence of a good woman.' It has been made the raison d'être and the sole excuse for unnumbered thousands of stories and plays. But what of the influence of a woman who is not good? One who has been through the mill and while by no means bad, has not the pure unsullied soul and body of the proverbial virgin? One who cares nothing for the right and wrong of things; who says to me 'It is her trust in him that makes a man of the big Swede, who, before the coming of the woman had been merely an animal.'"

He is the hard working, hard hitting foreman of a logging camp in the north woods. He rules by the strength of his two fists and most of the men hate him. Into the camp comes Lacy.

INDIAN COMMISSION BACK

Members Return From Tour Around Island Coast; Tribes Desire Help to Develop Fishing Industry.

The first field tour of the joint commission on Indian lands concluded yesterday afternoon, when the S. S. Tees arrived in port bringing back the members of the commission—N. W. White, K. C. chairman; Saumarez Carmichael, Dr. J. A. J. McKenna, J. P. Shaw, M. P. F., and D. H. Macdowall.

For a month the commission has been engaged in visiting the reserves along the west coast and in the Kwakwakaevery case being engaged solely in fishing, and the reserves being simply fishing stations. This being so the question brought before the commission chiefly was as to the rights of the Indians, and what they claim to be the encroachment of the whites on fishing grounds which they assert to be their exclusive possession.

In many cases it was said that cannery selling licenses have been issued by the marine and fisheries department, which cover the same ground as their reserve waters. While the commission is dealing only with the readjustment of the area of Indian reserves it has the power to make suggestions to the various departments in regard to any matters that crop up which it thinks would work to the greater good of the tribes, and it is likely that some recommendation will be made to the department of marine and fisheries regarding this matter.

Some of the chiefs who were heard on the west coast advanced the proposal that the government should assist them to embark on the fishing industry to a greater extent than they are able to do at present, and argued that this would stope the monopolizing of the fisheries by the Japanese. The head chief of the Kwakwaka nation suggested that the government should make a special arrangement to aid the Indians of Vancouver island to establish canneries and cold storage warehouses not only for salmon, but for clams, crabs and other fish. There and at other points the Indians pressed for the restoration of the right to use the old traps in the catching of salmon.

Several applications were made for increased areas in reserves, in the majority of cases this being desired for fishing station purposes, next coming lands asked for on account of timber, and the smaller number being for land for cultivation. The Cape Mudge Indians asked for a reserve upon the summit of a bare mountain a short distance back from the village, their reason being that this mountain has been held sacred by them from the earliest times.

Objection was taken by the Indians to their potlaches being prohibited, and they wanted the commission to use its influence to have the prohibition removed. They were advised that the law must be observed, but that if they desired any change in it they must petition the government at Ottawa.

The commission will remain here for at least a month before the next field expedition is undertaken.

Considered Missions.—"The Motive of Missions" was the subject discussed at the monthly missionary meeting this week of the Metropolitan church Epworth league. The thought centred in the work among the women of China. An interesting sketch of the life of Mary Stone was read. At the close of the service ten new members were received into fellowship.

All My
Corns
Are Gone

Every day, legions of people get rid of their corns with Blue-jay. This easy method now removes a million corns a month.

You who suffer with corns do yourselves an injustice. Blue-jay will instantly stop the pain. And in 48 hours, without any soreness, the corn comes out completely.

About half the people know this now. When a corn appears they put Blue-jay on it. Then they forget it. In a couple of days they lift out the corn and bid it good-bye forever.

You can't do that by paring corns. And you can't with old-time treatments. You may get relief for a little while, but the corns simply stay and grow.

Try this modern, scientific way—the way now employed by physicians and hospitals. Get rid of the corn. It is just as easy, just as painless as the ineffective ways.

SCRAP BOOK

Semi-Centenary of Coronation of Emperor Maximilian in Mexico City.

Many and spectacular have been the triumphal entries of conquering heroes into the ancient City of Mexico since it was founded six centuries ago as Tenochtitlan, the capital of the Aztec empire. There were revolutions even in those ancient days when dusky native rulers dwelt in the castle of Chapultepec, that cypress-clad rock elevation which overlooks the City of Mexico. When a new emperor was installed in the palace his accession was celebrated by human sacrifices to Huitzilopochtli, the Mexican Mars. The victims were borne to the summit of the vast pyramidal temples, where a great crowd assembled to witness the festivities. The martyrs to the god of war were bound by the priests to the sacrificial stone. The servants of God slashed open the breasts of the victims, and the bleeding, palpitating hearts were held up before the image of the god of war.

Since then few rulers have achieved power in Mexico without bloody sacrifice to the god of battles. Thousands of Aztecs were slain before Cortez raised his banner over the capital, and a multitude of Spanish troops and native soldiers were killed before Iturbide's ragged patriot army entered the City of Mexico in 1821 and hauled down the Spanish flag.

Of all the triumphs in the long history of the City of Mexico, however, the entrance of Maximilian and Charlotte into the capital just half a century ago to-day, and their coronation as emperor and empress, was marked by the most regal pomp and lavish display. A halo of romance surrounded the Austrian archduke and the beautiful Belgian princess who was his wife, and their attempt to found an empire in the New World was surrounded with such glamor as to win the allegiance, for a time, of many of their subjects. It was not long, however, that the ideal of "Libertad," long held but never realized, attained a new birth in the minds of Mexicans, and turned them against the benevolent despot who had set up a throne in the venerable castle of Chapultepec.

Wild and unrestrained enthusiasm on the part of the populace greeted Maximilian and Charlotte on that 12th of June in 1864, when they rode into the City of Mexico, surrounded by troops of many nations in brilliant uniforms. French, Austrian, Belgian and black African troops escorted the young emperors and empress, and their martial music as they marched through elaborately decorated streets made it a gala occasion such as is dear to the Mexican heart, and led the natives to temporarily forget their hatred of the gringos.

On that June night, half a century ago, Maximilian and his bride looked down through the grove of cypresses the Aztecs had planted on Chapultepec hill upon a city ablaze with lights and gay with unrestrained revelry and mirth and apparent joy. Everything seemed suspicious, but the new rulers failed to reckon with the fickleness of the Mexican mob, and they forgot, also, the Liberty-loving minority, led by that great Indian, Benito Juarez. Out beyond the Terra Caliente, among the people of the scorching plateaus and mountain fastnesses of the north, the ideal of freedom still lived. In vain the butcher Bazaine and his European troops sought to put down the rebellion, setting up precedents of "civilized warfare" for future Mexican leaders to follow by butchering in cold blood all the Jaurist prisoners, and even women and children, falling into their bloody hands. If Villa and Zapata are blood-thirsty and uncivilized, they are yet more merciful than those gringo soldiers who invaded their country half a century ago.

Few are qualified to shine in company, but it is in most men's power to be agreeable.—Swift.

HUMAN PROCESSION

One of the most interesting discussions of the temperance question in recent years comes from the pen of Sir Harry Hamilton Johnston, the celebrated English explorer, African administrator, globe-trotter and author, and is published in the Nineteenth Century. Sir Harry, who was born in London fifty-six years ago to-day, has spent the greater part of his mature life among savage peoples in the wild places of the earth. It has been said that he has penetrated farther into the souls and innermost thoughts and motives of Africans than any other white man, and he has also followed the fortunes of the black race in America and summed up his investigations in "The Negro in the New World."

Sir Harry's indictment of the liquor traffic is based largely on the allegation that the "strong waters" of civilization are responsible for the debasement and degradation of those "inferior races" who have had Christianity and its inevitable accompaniments introduced among them. In the course of his wanderings he has observed that the whiskey agent follows the missionary, that the bottle keeps pace with the Bible, and that the salvation of souls involves the destruction of bodies.

While the eminent explorer has painted alcohol as a very black and destructive devil, his denunciations are marked by the sweet reasonableness of the scientific spirit, and he has manifested an inclination to give the devil his due. The applause of the totalitarians is likely to become a groan when they find Sir Harry putting in a good word for pure beers and ales and light wines. He asserts that peoples who are given to the use of light wines and beers show few if any signs of physical or moral degeneration. In advocating a world-wide crusade against King Alcohol, and an international prohibition of the manufacture or sale of alcoholic beverages, the explorer would apply the ban only to those drinks "above the strength of light wines and beers."

If such a compromise is not satisfactory to the prohibitionists, most of whom are unwilling to make any distinction between alcoholic beverages but are determined to consign them all to destruction, Sir Harry believes that it will become necessary to invent a new stimulant to take the place of alcohol.

"The fact stands out," he declares, "that, all the world over, humanity is liable to be surmised, overworked, temporarily weakened by shock; in fact, in a condition which cries aloud for a stimulant, and for something more palatable to the taste, more rapid in its restoration of vigor, than smelling salts, sal volatile, or even a cup of beef tea." He adds: "We want substitutes in attractiveness of taste or in stimulating qualities for the various dilutions of alcohol which are injuriously declared to be so deleterious in their effect on mind and body."

In his travels Sir Harry, in common with many other travelers, has noted the difficulty often met with of securing "palatable and pure" water, and he urges upon temperance people the necessity of attending to this vital matter. In his opinion, beer is much better than the water to be obtained in many cities of Europe and America. Aside from the beverage made famous by Mr. Bryan, the English explorer finds little merit in the so-called temperance drinks, but he believes that with the growth of temperance sentiment the ideal substitute will yet be found.

FIRST THINGS

The first women's international temperance congress was opened in Philadelphia thirty-eight years ago to-day, June 12, 1876, and was followed by a world's temperance congress in which both sexes took part. The first women's temperance society was organized in Ohio in 1823, although previous to that time the fair sex had been prominent in local and state temperance societies in New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, and in the first national temperance association, instituted in Boston in 1826, and which held its first national convention in Philadelphia seven years later. The Women's Christian Temperance Union was founded as a local society at Hillsboro, O., in 1873, and the first branch was established in Fredonia, N. Y., the same year, while the first state association was launched in Ohio in 1874. The first W. C. T. U. national convention was held in Cleveland in November, 1874. The British Women's Temperance association was formed early in 1875, and sent delegates to the Philadelphia international gathering, from which the World's W. C. T. U. was an outgrowth.

SIZE OF CANADA.

Mr. R. L. Borden, dealing with the dimensions of the Dominion of Canada, recently asked his audience: "Do you realize how great a country Canada is? If you could pivot Canada upon its eastern seaboard, it would cover the northern part of the Atlantic ocean, the British Isles, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, the northern part of France, the entire German empire, and a considerable part of European Russia, and a man who lives in Halifax, Nova Scotia, is a thousand miles further away from Victoria, British Columbia, than he is from London."

"Alfred, dear, I feel it in my bones that you're going to take me to the theatre to-night." "Which bone, darling?" "I'm not sure, but I think it's my wishbone."

FIRE BRIGADE GIVES FINE DRILL DISPLAY

Lays Hose on Spencer Building in Less Than Two Minutes From Alarm

The most striking display of the work of the fire department that has been made outside of actual work since Chief Davis took hold of the brigade took place this forenoon, in honor of the visiting Odd Fellows.

This drew a couple of thousand people to the intersection of Broad and View streets. The speaker building having been chosen as the scene of the exhibition of drill and life-saving which was proposed. The grand lodge adjourned for a quarter of an hour in order to allow the members to see the firemen at work.

The exhibition was a spectacular one and called out the cheers of the crowd. As it happens it was watched by the representatives of the National Fire Underwriters board of the United States, who are here making an investigation into conditions with a view to a reduction in rates, and it was they who kept the time.

The apparatus was close behind and the different pieces continued to arrive with very few seconds between the first and the last, and it speaks volumes for the perfection of the training the brigade has received under Chief Davis that there was no confusion with all these congregating in one spot within such a short time.

The hose wagon from the central station was on the ground in thirty-five seconds from the pulling of the alarm. No. 1 chemical in thirty-seven seconds, No. 1 truck in forty-five seconds, No. 1 engine with steam up in forty-eight seconds, and No. 1 aerial ladder with its team of three magnificent greys in one minute and eighteen seconds.

The horse-drawn hose wagon and engine from the James Bay No. 2 hall, which did not have the straight run that the other apparatus had, made the quick time of one minute and twenty-two seconds, and the horse-drawn hose wagon from No. 2 hall, Yates street, in two minutes.

While no water was laid on the hose was coupled up so that this could have been done well within two minutes.

The first ladders were raised to the windows in one minute and fifty-five seconds, and the aerial was up in three minutes and twenty seconds. Another ladder was raised in two minutes and forty-five seconds. There was a hose line to the top of the aerial ladder in three minutes and thirty seconds, and a line to the top of the fifty-five-foot ladder in three minutes and twenty-two seconds.

For the first time the public saw the use of the life-line gun, although it is constantly used in practice. With this it is possible to shoot a light cord to a height of fifteen stories, and by its means a life-line is drawn up. This was fired three or four times. The firemen used the line in life-saving, sliding down with supposed rescued persons and being received in the net below.

The whole exhibition was a very interesting one, and the efficiency shown reflects the highest credit on Chief Davis and his men.

SAYS AGED MEN WORK

Ald. McNeill wishes to check practice of some of the home.

It will surprise the general public to learn from Ald. McNeill that men who have been benefiting by the city's philanthropy as inmates of the Aged Men's home, have gone outside and obtained contracts in competition with free labor.

Ald. McNeill, who was chairman of the committee last year, put a stop to this procedure, but finding that it has broken out again, he has posted notice of a motion for the next meeting of the city council. He wishes the superintendent to be instructed to check these occurrences in future.

CROWDS WILL VISIT DOWNTOWN STREETS

Dollar Day Will Bring Shoppers Out in Force; Great Array of Articles

Pages of attractive announcements in this issue of the Times assure a record shopping day to-morrow, Dollar Day. The many articles advertised will appeal not only to the gentler sex, who revel in the bargain counter, but to mere man, whose wardrobe, toilet requisites and other requirements may be replenished.

To-morrow will be Victoria's first Dollar Day, but the warm welcome that has been accorded it will make the occasion a record one in the city. With the twofold object of improving custom and giving the customer something which he can regard as a genuine bargain, the scheme, which has been enormously popular elsewhere, promises to make Saturday one of the busiest shopping days the city has ever known.

As Victoria is the natural shopping centre of Vancouver Island, it is assured that there will be throngs in the city from many of the Island points, the reduced railway and steamboat fares being an added inducement to the people to spend the day in the capital.

Those who do come will have an astonishingly wide range of articles to choose their day's purchases from. Their difficulty will not be to find a bargain, but to make a selection among the scores of excellent bargains which will confront them. It is very probable that there will be many perplexed shoppers in the downtown section to-morrow, for it is certain that never before has such an array of bargains been offered to the public of Victoria all on one day.

The goods which will be on sale at a dollar have behind them the reputation of the firms displaying them. The merchants have entered into the scheme in such a whole-hearted manner that the event has surpassed even their expectations.

Some of the merchants to-day quietly gave an excellent bit of advice to many of their customers. They told them that it would be a wise plan to be on hand as early in the morning as possible, as in that way they would have the best choice and would avoid the great crowds that are sure to be a feature of downtown Victoria to-morrow.

WILL RESIDE HERE.

Miss Hazel Whitaker Becomes Bride of Cecil Harold Gray; a Pretty Function.

On Wednesday, June 10, the Rev. E. G. Miller officiated at the marriage of Hazel, youngest daughter of S. Whitaker, and Cecil Harold, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gray. As the event took place on the Eve of St. Barnabas, the church was prettily decorated, and in addition to the flowers already there a bridal veil of daisies was suspended above the bride and bridegroom. The bride wore a beautiful dress of white satin trimmed with lace, and a lace veil crowned with a chaplet of orange blossoms. She was given away by her father, and was attended by one bridesmaid, Miss Mable Irvine, and a maid-of-honor, Miss Gladys Atack. L. Gray acted as best man.

After the wedding the guests repaired to the bride's home, where a delicious supper was served, the happy pair being accorded a hearty send off shortly afterwards when they joined the midnight boat for Vancouver, en route for Seattle, where the honeymoon is to be spent. On their return they will take up their home at 1158 Niagara street.

The bride's present to the bridegroom was a gold watch. His presents were: To the bride, a ring; to the bridesmaids, a brooch of pearl and topaz; to the maid-of-honor, a locket; and to the best man, a pearl stick-pin.

ODD FELLOWS FINISH GRAND LODGE MEETING

Early this afternoon the fortieth annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of British Columbia, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, was brought to a close, but the celebration of the jubilee of the institution of that order in the province continues until this evening with social festivities.

During this forenoon's session the elected officers of the Grand Lodge were installed with due formalities. Brother H. H. White, Cranbrook, taking the chair vacated by Brother Robert Dudley, now P. G. M., and the other officers taking their proper places.

Grand Master White announced the following appointments to the appointive offices:

Grand Chaplain—Brother Rev. W. S. A. Crux, New Westminster.

Grand Marshal—Brother W. G. Barrie, Prince Rupert.

Grand Conductor—Brother W. H. Laird, Moyle.

Grand Guardian—Brother R. H. Neelds, Grandview, Vancouver.

Grand Herald—Brother I. R. Lawrence, New Westminster.

The grand master also named the district deputy grand masters for the thirty-eight districts in the province, from Victoria to Dawson, Y. T., and also the standing committees of Grand Lodge for the year.

Addresses were delivered to Grand Lodge members by Brother G. Henderson, grand master of Alberta, and by Brother E. E. Sharon, grand secretary of the Grand Lodge and grand scribe of the Grand Encampment of Oregon. Brother Sharon had had to send his regrets at first as he did not think he would be able to get here, but had found that he could get to the city for the last session.

The Funeral Aid association, which pays $250 on the death of a member by an assessment levied, reported that it now had 512 members, an increase of $8 during the year, and that it had paid one claim, having lost but one member in 1913.

News came during the morning that the home of a brother and his wife who are attending Grand Lodge and the Rebekah Assembly, respectively, from Nanaimo, had been burned down last night. A resolution of sympathy with them was adopted.

The following officers were elected by the Rebekah assembly for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. Jennie Grant, Victoria.

Vice-president—Mrs. A. Butterfield, Vancouver.

Warden—Miss Eliza Gilchrist, Ladysmith.

Treasurer—Mrs. Kate Phelps Simpson (Victoria); Excelsior lodge, Kamloops.

Secretary—Mrs. F. A. Walker, Victoria.

The officers were installed after lunch, and a very successful assembly was brought to a close with the singing of the doxology.

Mrs. A. E. Parker, Cranbrook, who retires from the presidency after a term that has seen much prosperity follow the operations of the order, was presented with a handsome cut-glass vase by the assembly. Mrs. Walker was also presented with a piece of cut glass and Mrs. Miller, the assistant secretary, with a pretty souvenir.

All the assembly officers were presented with bouquets.

The drill competitions of the patriarchal militant were concluded yesterday afternoon and after the conferring of the decoration of civility, last night the report of the judges was read and the prizes presented. The awards were as follows:

Individual drill—1, Chevalier H. W. Pugsley, Vancouver; 2, Chevalier David Dewar, Victoria; 3, Chevalier W. A. Moore, Vancouver.

Col. Jensen's prizes for individual drill (medals and cash)—1, Chevalier Moore; 2, Chevalier Dewar; 3, Chevalier Pugsley.

Degree competition in putting on the work of the patriarchal militant degree—1, Canton Vancouver, No. 1; 2, Canton Victoria, No. 2. The winners get a silver cup.

Squad drill—1, Canton Vancouver, No. 1; 2, Canton Victoria, No. 2.

The prizes given in these competitions aggregated about $1,200. In addition special prizes to the amount of $300 were given by the Victoria jubilee celebration committee, and these were awarded for proficiency in individual drill to a number of chevalliers from Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria.

The degree competitions concluded to-day with the putting on of the work of the third degree. This was exemplified by Western Star lodge, No. 10, of Vancouver, early this forenoon and by Vancouver lodge, No. 8, of Vancouver, at noon.

The results in all the competitions were made known and the prizes distributed this evening at 8 o'clock, in the large I. O. O. F. hall, when the grand lodge will hold a short special session for that purpose.

This afternoon a very large number of the members of the Grand Lodge and a great number of the families of city Odd Fellows wandered their way out to the Gorge, where a picnic was held, boat races were put on and a programme of races and athletic sports was gone through. Special cars were put on by the B. C. Electric Railway company to accommodate the crowds going out.

Other parties of delegates were made up for excursions to Deep Cove, Sidney, and other points.

This evening the mayor and members of the council will give a reception to visiting Odd Fellows and their families in the ballroom of the Empress hotel, which will be the closing event in the week.

Real Estate Exchange Says Government Has Turned Industries From Victoria

An address by Peter McAree, ex-mayor of Regina, and a resolution regarding the government's delay in handling the Songhees terminal question were the features of this afternoon's well attended luncheon of the Real Estate Exchange in the West-holme grill, Charles T. Cross, the president, was elected as a committeeman on the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges for three years, and remarks were also made by Industrial Commissioner Cuthbert and Hon. Edgar Dewdney.

E. C. B. Bagshawe moved the resolution that a committee be appointed to point out to Sir Richard McBride that several promising industries have been turned away from Victoria owing to the government's delay in apportioning a section of the reserve to the city for industrial sites. In a brief speech in support of his motion he declared that the business men of the city expected much of this reserve site, and wanted to see the government take some action. The committee was appointed as follows: E. C. B. Bagshawe, R. W. Douglas, B. Boggs and A. S. Barton.

Ex-Mayor McAree, of Regina, after speaking of the function of the Real Estate Exchange to safeguard the interests of the investing public from the actions of unscrupulous sharks, addressed a few remarks at those who stated that the day of speculation was past in Canada. As a matter of fact, when somebody had said, "Oil," in Calgary people had plunged furiously into speculation, he said, and when the government had auctioned off some land in Fort George over half a million dollars' worth of property was taken up in three days. There was just as much speculation as ever in the blood of Canadians, and as soon as money became easier every man was addressing himself would be back at it again as earnestly as ever. Canada was just in the beginning of her development, he declared.

PUBLIC MEETING CALLED

Victoria and Island Development Association to Awaken Interest in Iron Industry.

A public meeting for the purpose of awakening interest in the new movement to develop the iron resources of Vancouver Island was decided upon at the first meeting of the Victoria and Island Development association at the city hall this afternoon. Commissioner Cuthbert was present and thanked the committee for his appointment.

He said he was fully seized of the onerousness of the duties which faced him and asked unanimous support from the committee. A communication from him stated that he intended to participate in no other business than that of the association, and would not permit any business to be carried on under his name.

A motion was passed that he act as honorary secretary of the association until June 30 was passed. A committee composed of Frank Higgins, F. A. Pauline, C. H. Lugin, J. G. Wilson and Mr. Jones was appointed to draw up bylaws and complete the organization of the body.

Simon Leiser, F. A. Pauline and Alderman McNeill were appointed as a finance committee, and Alderman Todd was elected to be the society's reception committee.

SPANISH BANK CASE

Dominion Appeals From Mr. Justice Macdonald's Decision in Favor of Province.

The famous Spanish banks case has been before the court of appeal and after argument by S. S. Taylor, K. C., for the attorney-general of the Dominion and L. G. McPhillips, K. C., for the province, the court reserved judgment yesterday.

This is the case in which the province permitted the Ritchie Contracting Supply company to take the sand from a bar in English Bay, Vancouver, for building purposes. The Dominion contended that as harbor water the foreshore rights of English Bay were vested in the Dominion government. Mr. Justice Macdonald held that the water was not a harbor before 1871 and hence decided the case in favor of the province, which is a co-defendant with the Ritchie company. The appeal yesterday was by the Dominion.
